

Foreign Aid Appropriation Passes Senate

$200 Million Cut In Military Funds Voted 41 To 34

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14 —UP— The Senate Saturday night passed a $2,790,824,816 foreign aid appropriation bill after voting a $200 million slash in funds for direct military assistance.

Over strong opposition of administration leaders, the chamber approved, 41 to 34, an amendment by Sen. Burnet R. Maybank (D-S.C.) to trim the direct military aid money.

The measure now goes to a House-Senate conference committee for a compromise agreement on differences between the version approved by the two houses.

The $2,790,824,816 in "new money" compares with $2,895,944,000 voted by the House and is $647,724,989 under the $3,438,549,805 originally requested by President Eisenhower.

Final Senate approval came after several hours of debate, during which Sen. Everett M. Dirksen (R-Ill.) led a futile administration fight against efforts to cut the measure.

Earlier this week, Congress approved and sent to the White House a compromise $3,054,000,000 authorization bill to carry on the military, economic and technical aid program for another year.

Maybank's proposal applied the cut to funds for direct military assistance. The South Carolina Democrat argued that unused equipment "recovered" from the Indo-China war made the reduction possible. Dirksen pleaded that it would "endanger" military aid for Europe.

The unusual split in party lines found many of the Senate's staunchest economy advocates voting against the reduction.

Sen. Russell B. Long (D-La.), supporting Maybank, charged that the foreign aid program is "loaded down with more (money) than they can spend in two and a half years."

He said, "If we pass this bill as it stands, before the Maybank cut, this will be the most loose-spending Congress since World War II." Long successfully applied a cut of more than $400 million to the Senate foreign aid authorization bill recently.

The cut was supported by 29 Democrats and 12 Republicans. Voting against it were 26 Republicans, 7 Democrats and Independent Sen. Wayne L. Morse (Ore.). Sen. Henry C. Dworshak (R-Ila.) failed in an attempt to eliminate authorization for $35 million in surplus farm commodities for Great Britain, in return for which Great Britain would construct fighter planes for the NATO forces.

Congress Caught In Big Scramble For Adjournment

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14 —UP— Congress belatedly found itself in the annual adjournment scramble Saturday and counted the prospects good for a cleanup of its legislative program in a week or less. Senate Republican leader William F. Knowland told reporters there is a chance unfinished "must legislation" can be cleared by Wednesday. But noting that Congress seldom quits in the middle of the week, he suggested Friday or Saturday would be "a safer guess" on the windup.

Here are the major bills still to be completed:
1. The foreign aid appropriation bill—passed by the Senate and still must go through a House-Senate conference committee to compromise differences and then to final vote in both chambers.
2. Farm legislation — Must go before both houses for a final vote on the conference committee version.
3. Social Security — The Senate passed its version of the administration bill Friday night and a conference committee must adjust differences.

4. Anti-Communist bills — The Senate is scheduled to act on two this Monday; House leaders still must decide what to do with the Senate-approved measure to outlaw the Communist party.
5. Debt limit—The House must accept or ask for a conference committee on the Senate bill to provide a temporary $6 billion increase in the $275 billion ceiling on the national debt. The House had approved a permanent $15 billion boost.

Conferees In Disagreement On Farm Bill

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14 —UP— A congressional conference committee broke up Saturday night in a deadlock over dairy farm price supports which threatened President Eisenhower's overall farm program.

However, efforts were begun immediately "over sandwiches and coffee" to find grounds for compromise on the vital legislation.

The sticking point in the formal meeting was an issue affecting every housewife and dairy farmer in the nation.

House members insisted that dairy price supports be boosted from 75 to 80 per cent of parity—the farmers' so-called fair earning level.

Senate members were equally stubborn in wanting the current dairy price supports kept at 75 per cent of parity in the government's program of buying up surplus butter, dried milk, and cheese.

The conference committee was "within 10 minutes of final agreement" on the overall bill, Senate conferees said, when they hit the roadblock on dairy price supports.

After the meeting broke up, Sen. George D. Aiken (R-Vt.) and Rep. Clifford R. Hope (R-Kan.), chairman of the Senate and House conferees, met over coffee to discuss compromises.

Hope later announced that the conference committee would meet Monday morning to resume the drafting of a compromise farm bill.

The conferees got other issues out of the way Saturday. The most controversial section, itself, is not an issue. Both houses already have agreed that prices on five basic crops — wheat, cotton, peanuts, rice, and corn — should be supported on a flexible scale of 82½ to 90 per cent of parity.

While the conferees deadlocked on the dairy support program, they reached agreement on these issues:

Wool — They agreed on a four-year wool price support program. Growers will sell their wool in the market for whatever it brings. The government will pay the difference between average market prices and a support level which may range up to 110 per cent of parity.

Wheat — House conferees dropped the provision in the House-passed bill which would give wheat growers a "two-price" support plan, based on what is consumed here in the United States.

Grazing — Senators, in turn, agreed to surrender on a provision in the Senate bill which would have given grazing permit holders the right to build dams and make other improvements on public lands.

Compromise — Both sides gave ground in writing a clause placing 12 states in a "non-commercial" wheat area. Some 5,900 farmers in these states will be freed from rigid federal planting controls. However, they will be offered price supports at only three-quarters of the rate effective in the major producing areas.

The states are Alabama, Louisiana, Arizona, Nevada, Mississippi, Florida, Maine, Vermont, New Hampshire, Rhode Island, Connecticut and Massachusetts.

Opposition To Changing EDC Grows Rapidly

Western Allies Not Sympathetic To French Plans

PARIS, Aug. 14 (AP) — Formidable and perhaps unbeatable opposition is building up among Western Allies against the French plan to change the European Defense Community Treaty.

Even before Premier Pierre Mendes-France's modification proposals got to the desks of other foreign ministers, some of France's five prospective partners in the EDC army were reported ready to reject most of them.

The plan for changes in the treaty framework provoked the resignation of three members of Mendes-France's Cabinet last night. This left him with a stern warning that big sectors of home opinion think the changes do not go far enough, while outside France the feeling is that they go too far.

The Premier has the task of reconciling both elements.

In his weekly fireside chat by radio tonight, Mendes-France told the French people that whatever the result, the Assembly must make some decision on EDC.

"Of all policies, it is that of shillyshallying which most harms the credit of a nation in the world," he told his audience, and added: "Believe me... our hesitations, our successive delays have led our questioners to doubt our good will."

"The truth," he added, "and our allies recall it every day, is that Germany will not remain indefinitely without a national defense, whatever our sentiments and reactions."

Mendes-France dispatched his proposals today through diplomatic channels. But the representatives of Belgium, Luxembourg, West Germany and Italy had already heard enough to prompt them to display little enthusiasm. Among these, only Italy has not already ratified the treaty as it stands. The French National Assembly is to take up the ratification question Aug. 28.

A diplomatic source who has been in conference with the other Allied partners reported one or more of them was thinking of sending back a sharply worded note saying there seems no point in going to Brussels, where the six foreign ministers meet next Thursday and Friday to discuss EDC.

The tone of the notes probably will be softened. But, this source said, by Tuesday morning most of the other countries will have received the proposals.

A brand new social agency, one badly needed, is announced for the Monroe area, housed temporarily at 510 Calais Street. It is the Monroe Area Guidance Center.

Dr. Ben Oliphant, well known pastor here, will be chairman and he will have a staff of physicians and civic leaders associated with the work of the Center which will be included in the Twin City Community Chest.

Personal disorders that too often result in crimes, domestic upsets and general social maladjustments will be studied and aided through probation officers, teachers, ministers, physicians, and many others who have the welfare of humanity at heart. It is hoped that some highly constructive work will result from this new agency.

5 Escapees May Face Charges Of Kidnaping Guard

BOSTON, Aug. 14 (AP) — Five crestfallen convicts whose "perfect break" lasted only 21 hours found today they had swapped their state sentences—amounting at most to 17 years—for possible federal life terms for kidnaping.

Captured last night in Rhode Island and Connecticut less than a full day after they broke out of Norfolk Prison Colony—taking a guard with them as a hostage—they were held in total bail exceeding half a million dollars.

Four of the quintet were arraigned here before U.S. Commissioner Francis H. Farrell. The fifth was arraigned last night at Providence, R.I.

The guard, 28-year-old Walter DeAdder of Lawrence, who had held his job only since Easter Sunday, said: All night long all they talked about was: "What a smooth getaway" and "It was the best break ever pulled." DeAdder, father of a 6-month-old daughter, was unhurt.

Each man arraigned today was charged with two counts of kidnaping, punishable by life imprisonment under the federal Lindbergh law, and one charge of "attempting to avoid confinement"—the escape.

The two kidnap charges involved holding DeAdder and Peter Cherniavski, 36, of Pawtucket, R.I., a garageman the guard took with them after taking an automobile at Commissioner Farrell held each man in $100,000 bail on the kidnaping charges and added $10,000 more for the escape charge. That made the total $440,000.

In Providence last night the fifth member of the gang was held in $100,000 on a kidnaping charge.

Texan Who Flew Under Bridges In London To Wed

LONDON, Aug. 14 —UP— The Daily Express announced Saturday that it had received a cable from the flamboyant Texan who flew a light plane under two Thames River bridges saying:

"You may announce our engagement."

The Texan, 25-year-old Gene Thompson, a crop-dusting flier from Lubbock, set Britain a-twitter by scuttling a small plane under the bridges and then taking off for home aboard the liner Atlantic before London police could catch him.

He said by radio and telephone he did it because his girl, Helen Brown, also of Lubbock, asked him to and he was so much in love with her he couldn't refuse. Miss Brown, 23, a psychology student, made it plain she thought he was a boob.

But the strategy worked. "I first saw her in person in Quebec, Canada," Thompson called Saturday. "First held her hand aboard the Atlantic en route to Europe. Got my first kiss in Lucerne, Switzerland. Squeezed her beautiful self in Santa Margherita, Italy."

"Proposed in the romantic setting of Rothenburg, Germany, and fought the battle of the Thames bridges to support my suit."

"She was extremely angry at the commotion but has finally relented and you may announce our engagement. Date to be decided later."

"Your copies of the paper will be treasured in our scrapbook forever."

Thompson and Miss Brown were members of an American tourist party and didn't meet until they started out from the States.

Army To Attack Formosa Reported Being Mobilized

TAIPEH, Formosa, Aug. 14 —UP— The Nationalist Chinese news agency said Saturday that Communist China has organized the first contingent of a "Formosa liberation army."

An estimated 100,000 Communist infantrymen together with 12,000 trained paratroopers and shock troops have swung into position along the Fukien coast facing the Chinese Nationalist bastion of Formosa, the news agency said.

Nationalist quarters feared possible Red attacks on Nationalist-held islands off the coast of the Chinese mainland in accordance with Chinese Communist Premier Chou En-Lai's statement earlier Saturday that the Peiping government plans to "liberate" Formosa.

Chinaone said the Chinese Communist troops, now in position along the coast, bore the name "Formosa liberation army" and that their battle cry is "across the straits!" The agency said the new command was set up by the Reds for the sole purpose of attacking Formosa.

Chou En-Lai, according to the Peiping radio, declared that "the government of the Peoples Republic of China once again declare that Taiwan (Formosa) is inalienably Chinese territory, that its occupation by the United States absolutely cannot be tolerated, and that it is equally intolerable to have it placed under UN trusteeship."

Members said that an apparent subcommittee majority seems to feel that Stevens, as the policy maker, bears much of the responsibility for actions of Army counsel John G. Adams that might have been avoided.

Meeting Is Set For September In Philippines

Defense Pact On Lines Of NATO Will Be Sought

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14 (AP) — The United States and seven other countries with a stake in Southeast Asia announced agreement today on a foreign ministers conference "to strengthen the fabric of peace" by weaving a united defense in the area.

The announcement came simultaneously in the capitals of all eight nations—the United States, Great Britain, France, Australia, New Zealand, Thailand, Pakistan and the Philippines.

The meeting of foreign ministers was scheduled for Sept. 6 at Boguio, the Philippines' summer capital. Its aim: "To consider measures to further their common objectives in the area."

This is the sort of thing Secretary of State Dulles, who will represent the United States, has been suggesting since early this year. In March, months before the Communists tightened their hold in Indochina, Dulles was urging "united defense" and, if need be, "united action" in Southeast Asia to block the Red advance.

While the accent at the Baguio conference will be on defense, American officials said, the question of economic cooperation will also come up. The economic question in Southeast Asia and the Southwest Pacific—where the rice-hungry are often easy prey for Communist propaganda—is a basic one.

There was no word from the State Department on what sort of defense arrangement was contemplated. However, negotiations at a working level have been going on among the eight nations for several weeks. The agreement expected at the conference, therefore, (Continued on Second Page) ed as the "most serious insect attacking cotton," is no stranger to Louisiana fields. But it has been eradicated in the past only by stringent regulations including plowing under stalks, sterilizing cotton seed and burning gin trash.

So far, however, no bollworms have been reported in Louisiana fields, but an infestation is spreading across Texas and may soon show up in Louisiana, despite efforts to keep it out. These include the reopening of eight border inspection stations on highways leading from Texas into Louisiana. The state entomologist, S. J. McCarty, also is keeping a close tab on cotton fields and gin trash for any evidence of infestation.

One more agricultural note: the cotton and sugar cane production for 1954 is going to be considerably less this year, mainly because of crop control programs. But on the credit side will be rice, corn, sweet potatoes, hay and oats.

Extension Service Economist W. D. Curtis said rice production will be about 8 per cent higher, corn will be up 32 per cent, oats up 39, sweet potatoes and hay up about 3. Cotton acreage is expected to drop 27 per cent and cane will be down 8 per cent.

In other areas of state government this week, the Jefferson Lake Sulphur company's celebrated and almost historical claim against the state became further embroiled in legal technicalities as the company attempted through the courts to force payment in the face of a taxpayer's suit to stop payment.

The 1954 legislature appropriated $807,465 to pay off the long-standing claim which has been confirmed by the state supreme court. Several weeks ago, a former representative from East Baton Rouge parish, James A. McCurnin, Sr., filed a "taxpayer's suit" to stop payment, on grounds it was unconstitutional.

constitutional.

When this action was taken, Jefferson Lake filed a suit of its own, to force payment, and a district judge here so ordered.

This left the state "between the devil and the deep blue sea," said state auditor Allison Kolb. What would happen, he said, if the state paid up now, then the act was found unconstitutional? Their only recourse was an appeal of the payment order, and the appeal was taken this week. A hearing on it is set for Aug. 27; the hearing on McCurnin's suit will be Oct. 4.

Two significant items came this week from the State Revenue Collector, Rufus W. Fontenot. The first of these was a comparative statement of collections for the first month of the new fiscal year—July. It showed a net decline of some $629,000, but Fontenot hastily explained that this was a bookkeeping quirk brought about by extensions granted payers of the gas gathering tax, which was $884,000 below July 1953. Despite this, there were minor drops in other categories for which Fontenot had no explanation.

The other revenue item was a bold step to strengthen Louisiana's claim to the 10.3 mile limit in the Gulf tidelands controversy. The collector issued a directive that he intended to collect all state taxes retroactive to June 20, effective date of an emergency bill approved by the legislature fixing the state boundary at three leagues.

Through his skilled leadership, the choir here has been expanded and strengthened until it is now admittedly one of the finest that any similar church in the state possesses.

His departure will occasion sincere regrets. Also it is regretted that his capable wife, a leader also here, will be missed as will his two promising children.

He states that he has given careful and prayerful consideration before he considered the change and that he feels that his duty lies in the connection he is to make at this time.

In a world in which a telephone is regarded as a household necessity, the increasing number of these installations indicate growth of a community.

When the month of August is near its end a new phone book will be distributed and there will be 24,000 of these books circulated. This indicates a gain of 2,000 phones here since a year ago. This is sufficient proof that the Twin Cities are gaining population rapidly.

Just drive in the outskirts of the two cities and you will realize that these two towns are up and coming. Many predict that they will reach 100,000 in a short time now at the present rate of growth.

U. S. To Station Fighter Squadron In Netherlands

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14 (AP)—What was hailed as a major move to strengthen anti-Communist defenses in Europe, the United States disclosed today it plans to station an Air Force fighter squadron in the Netherlands.

It will be the first time since World War II that American military personnel land planes have been taken up posts on Dutch soil.

The State Department announced that an agreement with the Netherlands to station the squadron at the Dutch base at Soesterberg was signed yesterday at The Hague. It will take effect as soon as the Netherlands Parliament approves.

The move is "of the utmost importance for the defense of the Netherlands," the State Department said.

"It increases the individual and joint capacity of allied nations to resist armed attack, an important objective of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and of United States foreign policy."

The announcement also stressed that the pact lays a foundation "for a form of cooperation which is of the utmost importance for the defense of the Netherlands."

Officials hoped the agreement with the Dutch would be followed by similar pacts with some other European nations which are members of NATO but which have hitherto been averse to have U.S. forces stationed on their territory.

Proper Shoes A 'Must' For School Child

Want to make certain that the children are properly shod for the coming term? Then take them downtown for a fitting now, well in advance of the beginning of the school year.

Clerks in reliable shoe stores will smile knowingly when mother insists that the youngsters' feet be measured for size — standing up — when she brings them in. None know better than shoe retailers how important correct fit is for young feet.

Here are other points parents should keep in mind when buying shoes for their children:

Shoes should be one-half inch longer than the longest toe.

The widest part of the shoe should come at the widest part of the foot.

The correct width shoe allows for a slight pinch-up of leather over the top of the shoe near the widest part just below the laces.

Heels should be snug fitting. Flexible leather shanks on shoes should be broad and deep enough to allow plenty of room for the toes.

Proper sized stockings are just as important as proper length shoes, and should be one-half inch longer than the foot.

Test the inside of the shoe with your fingers for any rough seams, creases in linings, uneven insole finish, or other points which would tend to make shoes uncomfortable.

Always try both shoes on your youngster to check their fit.

may be cut and dried before the foreign ministers appear for their four-to-five-day session.

If so, the meeting would nonetheless serve as a demonstration of the solidarity of the non-Communist nations concerned with the region.

Pakistan is the only one of the five Colombo powers to accept an invitation to participate, and even this strongly pro-Western country attached some reservations.

Spokesmen for Pakistan, which adjoins neutralist India, said their attendance did not commit them in advance to joining any defense arrangement set up by the conference.

No other country among the eight participants attached such reservations, American officials said, but neither did any make any advance commitments.

The expected defense pact will be patterned somewhat after the North Atlantic Treaty (NATO) and may even be called SEATO for Southeast Asia Treaty Organization.

It was not expected to create anything like the detailed military organization boasted by NATO, however. It would be "opened," that is, nations could later join or associate themselves providing this was unanimously acceptable to original members.

While there appeared little chance of India's coming in, responsible authorities said there was hope that India might at least be sympathetic. India, like strongly neutral Indonesia, is a member of the Colombo group along with Pakistan, Burma and Ceylon.

This loose grouping was created at Colombo, Ceylon, and recently its members agreed to keep hands off as a group of any defense set-up like SEATO.

American officials held out some hope, however, that the Colombo powers might associate themselves later with whatever economic activities the Baguio pact produces.

be subject to criticism.

Stevens and Adams charged McCarthy and Cohn with bringing improper pressure to bear to get favored treatment for Schine. McCarthy and Cohn in turn accused the Army officials of holding Schine as a "hostage" in efforts to sidetrack an investigation of alleged Communists in the Army.

McCarthy stepped off the subcommittee temporarily for the investigation and it was headed by Sen. Mundt (R-SD). Mundt has predicted a report may be ready for the Senate by Aug. 20.

Cohn was quoted as saying when he resigned July 19 that he would have stayed on despite personal reasons for quitting "if it has not become apparent I was to become a political sacrifice."

A Republican member, who asked not to be quoted by name, said he felt the Democrats on the group thus far had avoided the appearance of partisanship in drafting versions of the proposed report. He said he was "agreeably surprised" on this score, adding that the attitude taken by the minority had increased prospects for an almost unanimous report on the controversy.

This Republican said he thinks there will be a report signed by both Republicans and Democrats but he did not rule out the possibility that individual members would file separate views on some aspects of the controversy.

Sens. Jackson (D-Wash.) and Dicken (R-Ill.) are working separately over the weekend on tentative drafts of findings and recommendations which will constitute the main part of the "verdict."

Mundt said he plans to call no further meeting of the subcommittee until the two senators, serving as a special drafting committee, complete their drafts and make at least an effort to agree on a composite draft.

Mundt told reporters "the findings will deal with the past—the recommendations will deal with preventing a recurrence of what occurred in the past." These will come in separate chapters in the report, he indicated.

Mundt has been advocating the creation of a coordinating committee, representing the executive branch of government and Senate and House investigating groups, as one means of avoiding flareups such as the ones that precipitated the McCarthy-Army hearings. He said this is one possible item for inclusion in the recommendations.

He said he hopes one result of having a coordinating committee would be an era of teamwork in which executive agencies might even ask congressional investigators to help them on investigating missions.

Congressional committees have subpoena powers which most executive agencies lack, and Mundt contends that through coordinated effort they could be more effective.

The subcommittee is expected to discuss in its recommendations such issues as presidential orders denying Congress access to certain information, Eisenhower's order forbidding White House aides to tell what was said or done at a Justice Department meeting at which McCarthy's row with Stevens was discussed caused some vigorous outbursts during the hearings.

UN Group Called To Discuss POWs

SEOUL, Korea, Aug. 14 UP—The United Nations command Saturday called a meeting of the Joint Military Armistice Commission to discuss additional information about "unaccounted-for" prisoners of war of both sides.

An informed source said the United States has "new information" to back up its charges that Allied prisoners of war are still being held in North Korea

Motive Sought For Shooting Of Army Sergeant

JACKSON, Miss., Aug. 14 (AP)—Investigating officers today sought a motive for the fatal shooting of an Army sergeant found floating in the Pearl River with a bullet in his head.

Deputy Sheriff Billy Holyfield of Rankin, heading the investigation, said 22-year-old Sgt. William L. Ford was a paratroop instructor with the 500th regimental combat team and a resident of Beaumont, Tex. He had been AWOL since the Friday before his death.

After studying the clues, officers began theorizing the sergeant set up a "murder" scene, waded into the river and shot himself.

But his mother, Mrs. James Dickson, a Jackson nurse, discounted this theory.

She said her son had not appeared despondent when she last saw him on the eve of the shooting.

"He had every intention of living," she said. "When he left me at the doorstep after we had dinner, the last thing he said was that he would meet me Tuesday to drive to our home in Clarksdale where plans were made for his wedding Tuesday night."

She said her son was a happy-go-lucky person with lots of friends and "he wasn't the kind of boy who would take his own life."

Mrs. Dickson said her son told her Sunday night he had $1,100 in cash which he planned to use to buy another automobile.

No trace of this money has been found, officers said, adding that location of the cash would "clear up one of the big question marks in the case."

Officers said Ford's automobile was found about 30 yards upstream from where the body was snagged against a log. The area around the car gave evidence of a furious struggle.

Several .38 caliber shells were scattered around. The sand was scuffed. Ford's wallet lay empty near the automobile. Five bullets smashed into the car, most of them in the dashboard, and a long hunting knife was stabbed into the driver's seat.

Holyfield said a .38 caliber revolver, purchased the day of the shooting by a man resembling Ford, was found in the muddy river near the car.

Officers said they began working on the suicide theory after examination revealed no blood stains anywhere, no bruises on Ford's body, and he had died of a bullet wound in the right temple though the bullets had been fired into the automobile from the left side.

The revolver was shipped to FBI headquarters in Washington for ballistics tests to determine whether it had killed Ford.

Ford's fiancée, Miss Betty Joan Hinton of Center City, Ky., testified at the coroner's inquest that Ford had told her he was in some kind of trouble but did not elaborate.

But, she said, he told her, "I am going to have to kill someone or someone is going to kill me."

Probe Shiners From Mexico

The Louisiana Wild Life and Fisheries Commission will begin an immediate study of the Mexican "shiner" which has been imported into Louisiana from Texas for use as bait, reports Director L. D. Young, Jr. Young met in New Orleans this morning with commission biologists and bait dealers M. D. and Leland Walker, of Jena.

The Walkers brought with them specimens of the live fish for examination by the fisheries men.

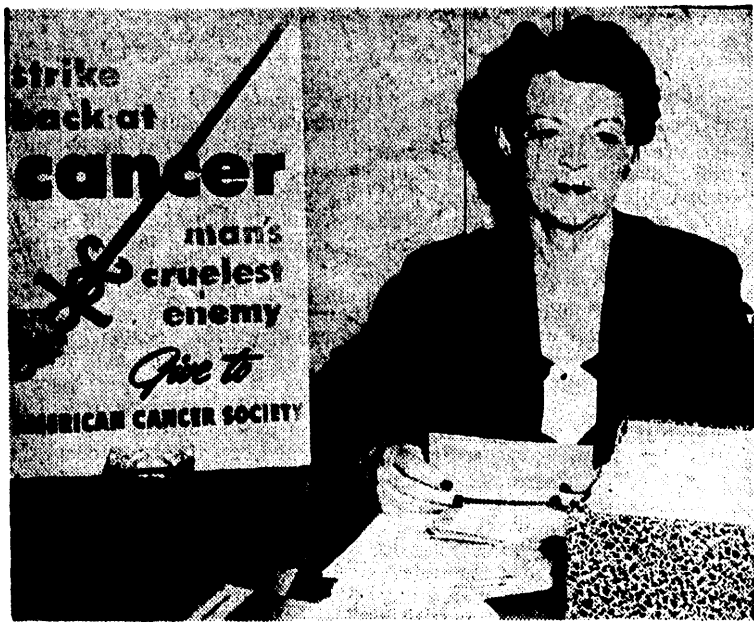

These fish have been brought into several sections of Louisiana for bait purposes by a number of bait dealers, and they were coming from the Rio Grande area of Texas. Dr. Richard Gregg, of Louisiana State University, told of his experience with the fish in his work in Mexico. He said that it is in the same family as the piranha, but that it only reaches a length of four or five inches in Mexico. It is probably the most wide-spread fish in Mexico, and is adaptable to waters similar in temperature and pH to those in Louisiana. They are prolific breeders and travel in large schools.

If the fish were to become established in Louisiana they could become pests in several ways. First, they could become a nuisance by eating bait off the hooks of fishermen. Second, they could possibly be detrimental by eating native minnows. And, third, they could occupy space in our waters which could be better utilized by other species.

The fish themselves are similar to our native minnows, but they are equipped with sharp teeth in both upper and lower jaws. Another good identification feature is the small fleshy fin immediately behind the dorsal fin. None of our other minnows have this.

Pending completion of the study of this fish, importation of them has been stopped. Young expressed his appreciation to the Walkers for their cooperation in this matter, adding that, "We certainly intend to take no chances on letting another exotic species become a problem here if we can possibly help it. The water hyacinth and the English sparrow are good examples of the harm that can come from indiscriminate introduction of exotic flora and fauna."

Farm Week Ends, Visitors Return

FERRIDAY, Aug. 14 (Special)—A group of Concordia parish home-makers headed by Miss Inez Callaway, home demonstration agent and Joseph W. Milby, county agent, have returned from Baton Rouge where they, with many other visitors from Louisiana, were guests of the Louisiana State University and the Agricultural Extension Service at the week-long Farm and Home Week, held there August 9-13.

Miss Callaway and Milby said the visitors at the Farm and Home week were entertained at two receptions, given by Governor and Mrs. Robert Kennon, and President Troy Middleton of LSU and Mrs. Middleton.

Another highlight of the week with 4-H Club members was the Junior leadership camp being held at Camp Grant Walker, Elizabeth Sessions of the Vidalia 4-H club was the Concordia parish winners for the girls, in the Junior Leadership Contest held on 4-H Achievement Day. She attended the camp with other winners of the state during the past week.

Jackson's Daily Newspapers Tell Plans For Future

JACKSON, Miss., Aug. 14 (AP)—Jackson's two daily newspapers, combined now under one ownership, published their plans for the future in their Sunday editions.

"Consolidation means a continuance of two home-owned, independently edited and adequately financed newspapers for Jackson and Mississippi," the Clarion-Ledger and Jackson Daily News said in full-page announcements.

Readers will notice first, in the near future, a combined Sunday edition.

"This big Sunday paper will contain all the features of both present Sunday papers," the announcement said, "including 16 pages of color comics which will contain the same number of comics appearing in the two sections now being run in the separate papers, plus new features."

The cost will be 15 cents. The two separate Sunday editions now cost 10 cents each.

"There is positively no plan to increase advertising rates," the newspapers said.

"Local advertisers may continue as in the past to use the newspaper of their choice at the present rates."

A special "combination" rate will be given for the same ad appearing in both newspapers—a 10 per cent reduction for the second insertion.

Rates for the combined Sunday edition will be 10 per cent less than for the same ad put in each newspaper separately.

The newspapers said "all employees in all departments of both newspapers will be retained."

Major Frederick Sullens will remain editor of the Daily News with full control of the editorial policy, the announcement said. T. M. Hederman will continue as editor of the Clarion-Ledger.

Louisiana Yam Shipments In July Set Record

OPELOUSAS, Aug. 14 (UP)—July shipments of Louisiana yams have set an all-time record for that month, according to records available and to the just-released shipping point report of the State Agriculture Department, the Louisiana Sweet Potato Commission reported here today. This was the first volume movement of the 1954 crop. First carloads of the crop moved June 28, earliest movement in the history of the industry.

Louisiana shippers moved to market a total of 282,940 bushels during July, the report stated. This is more than 40,000 bushels above the largest July movement on record, 262,514 bushels in July 1948. Furthermore movement during the first ten days in August was over 50,000 bushels ahead of last year for the same period. Busiest shipping point was Arnaudville, in the southern portion of the Louisiana yam belt. Arnaudville moved out 124,296 bushels, almost half of the total Louisiana movement for the month.

The July movement went to market in 836 truckloads and 42 rail-road carloads for 31 different shipping points.

Next largest July movement was from Sunset, which is the nation's largest yam shipping point. Sunset shippers moved 33,784 bushels to market.

Estimates from the U. S. Department of Agriculture indicate that the Louisiana crop for 1954 will be slightly higher than the 1953 crop but considerably lower than the average of the previous 10 years.

The entire nation is expected to produce fewer yams by 1.3 million bushels than was the case during 1953, however industry sources report that the August 1 forecast, due soon, should revise downward still further the 1954 crop estimate.

Extremely dry weather in the East Texas and lack of enough moisture in the Carolina sweet potato belts should drop the national estimate below the July figure of 32,669,000 bushels.

Nearly one third of the population of Canada is of French descent.

Business Better In New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS Aug. 14 (UP)—Business activity in New Orleans for the first six months of 1954 has been above that of last year and expectations are for a slow increase during the remainder of this year. A Chamber of Commerce report showed today.

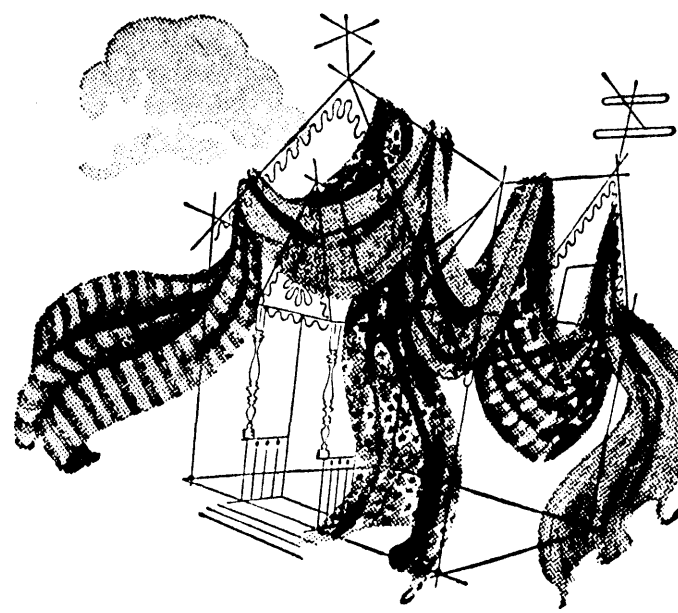

The report cited population growth and increased industrial development as factors in the optimistic outlook.

For Years And Years—

Last Tuesday morning, a very great man celebrated the 80th anniversary of his birth. A small town boy who rose to become the president of his nation, Herbert Hoover is one of the greatest Americans to ever bear the name "true patriot."

The Morning World declined to pay its respects on Tuesday morning for several reasons. It wanted to first look over and examine some of the newspaper comment throughout the nation—comment that fifteen years ago, was bitter against President Hoover. It is hardly necessary to go into the life of this man because that has been discussed, published and read for many days.

However, it is necessary to tell of Mr. Hoover's generosity for his fellow man. Do any of you readers remember when he took it upon himself to foster relief ships during the first war? Until Mr. Hoover became the President, his name was a second translation for honor and kindness.

Unfortunately for Herbert Hoover, something entered the picture, something with which his particular nature was not familiar and something which a man of his caliber could hardly comprehend. It was what is known as the "high powered publicity agent." Today, that individual type is sometimes called a "smear artist." Few Americans remember the circumstances surrounding the depression.

Beginning in Europe of a combination of circumstances, not excepting the terrible machinations of the European (and some American) international bankers who were attempting to destroy Germany, the great depression strode across the world as a black tide. To escape the United States, the depression would have had to have been halted in Europe. Such, alas, was not possible.

The record indicates that Herbert Hoover did everything in his power to halt the depression in this nation. After the bank and stock market crash, it was his idea to set up a control so that nothing of the sort could happen again. In 1930, a Congress was elected which was controlled by the opposite political party of Mr. Hoover. There were those in that party who cleverly thought a new idea. Actually, it was an old idea, as old as human nature—how to profit by other people's suffering.

"What a plum if we could blame the depression on the Republicans, especially Hoover," thought the "sages." So, when the Democrat party took over in that year, all of Mr. Hoover's plans were thrown out. Every humane idea was discarded. As a result, Mr. Roosevelt was elected. It is terrible to note that he refused to cooperate with Mr. Hoover who asked for his cooperation in helping relieve the depression.

Upon Franklin Roosevelt's election, the man clearly guilty of plagiarism, stated "all we have to fear is fear itself." Thus began the conversion of a proud nation of individualists into a nation of quivering, sheeplike beings who now must look to the federal government as a great "white father."

The most sordid aspect concerning the situation was the well planned and astute smear campaign begun by the Marxists inside the Roosevelt administration to destroy President Hoover. Financed by your money, and your parents' money, never was there such a successful, yet terrible campaign. Statements never made by Hoover were attributed to his honorable name so that in time, it could be dishonorable.

For years, the very mention of Herbert Hoover would bring foul oaths to even the kindest of lips. The Bible says that the meek shall inherit the earth. Mr. Hoover was proved right even though it took more than 20 years to accomplish that. Mr. Hoover, though his name was dragged through the gutters of a Marxian set of minds, has proved that honor and principal will win out over the disgusting lies which can be spread about a man.

Today, Herbert Hoover stands as a giant among men. Republicans look wistfully at the man whose heart was once broken in the service of his nation. Even now, the artists of destruction cannot leave him alone. Even now, there are those who fear the truth and fear the power of a man who is a living example of the teachings of Jesus Christ.

Mr. Hoover, on your 80th birthday, a Southern newspaper, not a particularly large one, but a sincere one, wishes to send you its best wishes and congratulations. It also sends its heartfelt thanks to you and hopes that your life ahead and will not only be filled with happiness, but will contain many more years.

80 years is a long time to live, President Hoover, and certainly, you are entitled to a rest, but your nation needs you and your profound advice as it has never needed it before in its history.

80 years—Happy birthday, President Hoover!

Danger Near The Yalu

In dealing with the International Marxist Conspiracy, one is forced to understand in the first premise, that he deals not with people of honor, with those who believe that honor is a laughable proposition. They believe that peaceful compromise is a sign of weakness.

Therefore, it was no surprise to note that the Marxists are building a large staging area in what was formerly North Korea. It is hard to understand that there are no such nations in existence as "North Korea," "China" and "Manchuria." These are merely subdivisions of the international Marxist state, the capital of which is in Russia.

It has been reported by the Republic of Korea intelligence backed now by U. S. Army intelligence, that the Communists have built North Korea into an armed camp. There are now more than thirty new operational jet air fields and numerous military installations. There are three hundred new MIG-17's, the new version of the speedy "15" and at least a hundred II-18 light jet bombers. Some of these are but ten minutes from the ROK capital at Seoul. Some are but an hour and a half from the American bases in Japan. The United States is presently outnumbered three to one in the Oriental skies. In land armies, there is no use in giving an estimate.

It will be remembered that the Communists had promised not to build up North Korea. This newspaper stated at the time that the "promise" was not worth the amount of carbon dioxide expelled by the speakers on both sides. General MacArthur stated that the truce was foolish and had insisted that the Communists be eliminated from North Korea.

General Mark Clark who became familiar with the Communists stated the same thing. Instead, what was allowed to prevail? The "United Nations" was allowed to control the situation. It was allowed to stall and to compromise until the word "Panmunjom" became nauseous gas to Americans. The United States was forced to pull back while the Communists were given time to rebuild their shattered forces.

The Chinese then entered the war and were for a time, victorious, but even they were about to be defeated when the order was given to "stalemate" the war and to merely prevent the Communists from moving South.

The history of that war is written in the blood of many an American. It is written in the limbs and body parts left in Korea by other Americans who will never forget Korea. It is written in the Americans still held by the Communists. But mainly, it is written in the perfidy of the diplomats, American and others, who allowed the United States to be controlled by other nations.

It is written because the American nation was not permitted to expel and destroy an evil force from a small section of the world. One would fondly believe that the lessons learned in Korea would easily serve the diplomats as prime examples.

Unfortunately, the perfidy and even the proof are not enough for those whose minds are shut to the truth of a given situation. Even now, there are those who insist on "Peaceful Co-Existence." That peaceful co-existence is exactly what the Communists want. Premier Malenkov said so himself and where is there a better authority?

The Western leaders are fooling themselves. They know that they are fooling themselves. They are aware of the perfidy and the wickedness of Communist statements. Instead of forcing the Communist "hand," they are content to stall and to delay in taking action. They are afraid of what "might happen."

Look what happened in 1939 when that action might have been prevented had action been taken in 1938 or 37.

Timidity in the face of brute force is not possible. The Communist building up in North Korea is merely an example.

Unhappily, it is not being taken into consideration.

'The Fall Of A Titan'

Some years ago, it will be remembered that the Soviet Union suffered a crushing espionage defeat. It served to do several things, perhaps the most important being the awakening of the American people to disaster. It completely (for a time) disrupted the Soviet espionage ring which had infiltrated the atomic projects of three nations. It ruined the spy ring inside the United States government and forced the MVD to tear up and destroy their beautifully designed courier and code system.

How did this happen? Did the CIA, or the British and Canadian services disrupt the Soviets?

Hardly.

The story is an interesting one. It is the story of a man who had throughout his entire life of more than three decades, never known freedom. It is the story of a man raised on deceit and lies, who came to a free nation and saw that there were some decent humans in this world.

Igor Gousenko, the now famous Soviet code clerk at the Russian Embassy in Ottawa, Canada walked into a Canadian newspaper office to deliver what he thought were important pieces of information. The paper turned him down but he was persistent. His life in his hands (and those of his wife and children) he contacted the authorities who even refused to listen. However, the authorities did listen when two agents of the MVD came to his apartment.

The case was broken open. It involved even a member of the Canadian parliament. It involved several high officers of the Canadian armed services and resulted in the final death of the Rosenbergs.

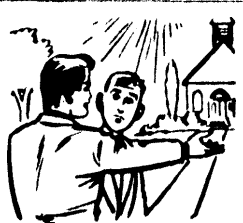

That former code clerk will always be in danger. If the MVD never is able to destroy another individual, it wants Gousenko. He and his family are marked individuals. He has adopted another name and another life and has written a great book. The book deserves the attention of every American who is possessed of a knowledge of reading ability.

"Fall of a Titan" is a haunting book. Written in the vein of almost every great Russian writer such as Tolstoy, the book describes the life in the Soviet Union as it lived by an official of the Soviet Government. It is based on the life of Gorki, the Russian writer, defendant of Stalin who was rewarded with death for his services.

The book describes the Russian's love for his motherland and his sorrow for what has happened. It is a theme of violent hate in a nation now constructed on those principles but yet—of love and tenderness which is expressed in the nature of almost every human. It describes what happens to a people controlled by Godless individuals and relates the failings of those who are wrong in the beginning.

"Fall of a Titan" should be read by every living American. This newspaper disagrees with those who say "It's no masterpiece."

It is a modern "War and Peace". Don't miss it.

One Day Worth While

If I may live just one more day... To do a little good... For all the world in which I live... Or just my neighborhood... To help some creature on his way... To guide him through the night... Until at last his eyes behold... The Everlasting Light... Until he recognizes God... And bows before His throne... And knows that now behind His grace... He must be all alone... Then I will say unto myself... This day was worth my while... For I have won a soul to God... And I have shaped a smile... And as I arrive to serve Him with... My efforts toward this goal... May God forgive my errors and... Have mercy on my soul.

Council Of Churches

Editor, Morning World:
This brief note is to offer my congratulations and appreciation for the series of five articles which appeared in the Morning World recently regarding the World Council of Churches. It was a blessing to me as well as a source of factual information. Your courage and Christian standards are to be greatly admired. We, here in Rayville, are happy to offer our sincere word of gratitude to you.

I told Dr. Herrington, our Pastor, of my intentions to commend your articles and it was his desire to also offer a sincere word of commendation.

God bless you for your endeavors on His behalf and also on behalf of Christianity, which you are so ably defending. May other newspaper editors "follow in your train."

A Spanking For Mrs. Cagle

After reading your letter a second time I have decided not to "spank" you quite so hard as you did our brilliant young editor, or do you know that?

Too, I read Reverend Fred L. Gilson's letter commending him on the subject you so bitterly condemned him on. We here in Monroe and surrounding territory know him to be well versed in the subjects he covers and I happen to have known some of his family too. I don't have the education you apparently seem to have, so I won't go into details but I just happen to know a very brilliant young minister who attended the W. C. C. in Amsterdam (Holland). I believe in 1948, He went as a delegate from his church also as a reporter from the city newspaper. Should you care to know what the results of that trip were or turned out to be, I would be glad to tell you, but let's don't take up the time and space allotted to us through the Public Forum by our splendid young editor.

I could quote a few scriptures, too, regarding "World peace," "wars and rumors of wars," but just what do we gain? We should all be pushing the few who have the nerve to "spit out what they know" place of being "dumb dummies." Praise to our editor!

The Persecution Of Senator McCarthy

Editor, Morning World:

If you doubt that Russia still has a firm grip on this nation, just watch the fight against Sen. McCarthy, one of the greatest patriots this country has ever known. When he began his drive to flush out subversives his committee was known as "McCarthyism Vs. Communism" but the Soviets realized that this man had "guts" and would jeopardize their progress here; through their American dupes and stooges they bent the senator's gun barrel and his fight became "McCarthy Vs. The Army." Now it's a "Senate Investigation Committee Vs. McCarthy" while the subversives work on like rats in a warehouse.

Senator McCarthy gets his information from people all over this country, people who know these subversives and want them taken out of circulation. Senator Flanders and his committee, whom the Kremlin must decorate, want to persecute McCarthy, force him to turn over this information to the Federal Government which, as usual, would be ignored or used as political propaganda to build up the Republican Party. While these dupes of the Soviets are holding the Senator's back to the wall he has the names of 132 subversives who are working in warplants where they have access to highly military secrets. All have Communist backgrounds. All our secret weapons may ultimately be used against us. The A&H bombs cost this country 13 billion dollars, maybe more; Russia got the first to have them. Russia will be the first to use them.

Senator McCarthy knows he can rely on information from employees in a warplant. These workers are on the lookout for sabotage and espionage. During World War II, I was working at one, was in the assembly department where everyone knew what the plant was making. Any one not loyal to us soon got himself away. I was working with a man who had very little to say and now and then he used a word I didn't understand. For instance, when he complained that a tool was "dull," he would say that he was in sympathy with the Nazis, a bad risk.

They charge McCarthy of being a dictator. How do they expect him to deal with a nation of cut-throats who are trying to enslave us? They should stand behind him, not in front of him, help him go on.

'Stop Accidents'

Chicago, Ill.

Editor, Morning World:
This is a note to thank you most sincerely for the support you have given the "Stop Accidents" campaign by using the material sent you by The Advertising Council.

Both The Advertising Council and the National Safety Council are keenly aware that no safety campaign possibly can be successful without the support and leadership of the press, and we are very grateful to you for providing it.

I am sure you are gratified that the traffic accident toll has come down steadily every month this year, so that 1,000 lives were saved in the first six months of 1954 as compared with the same period last year.

We are sure that the interest in safety shown by the Morning World is playing an important part in this encouraging trend in traffic safety. Please keep up the good work!

How Southern Are You?

Editor, Morning World:
"T'wixt Southerners," "Loyal Americans," Thomas A. Hilton, et al of Calhoun, La.:

There finally comes that inevitable last straw; your signing of yourselves in the above terms was it and it lay mighty heavy on my stomach. Since you are admittedly true and loyal, will you answer these questions without hedging?

Did you attend any of the Calhoun churches during the past year? If so, did you or did you not participate to the extent of informing yourselves of your church's stand on your troublesome subject?

If you ever joined together to help a boy Hilton, as you seem to regret at the present, just what qualities had you seen in him that moved your august group to the act of sending him on the trip you mentioned? How long ago was that? Since you continually refer to his extreme youth, it couldn't have been so long ago, or did you send his Mama with him? Is it possible that his matriculation at Tech has caused him to lose those good qualities so fast? I know men possess a long, your intelligence couldn't have possibly been mistaken in the calibre of the boy's one time character.

Did you not at one time or other encourage this boy to have convictions of his own and to stand up for them? This would have been true to the signature you claim. Your remarks concerning his entrance in the wrong college are the lowest blows ever to be published in The Forum. Have your heads been in sacks since you reached 12 years of age? What is emitted from your oral cavity would lead me to believe they would feel at home under those well known, every - once - and-a-while thought of hoods.

Men of your type have piled the blame for all our ills at the feet of communism so much here lately that it seems to me you are really beginning to make a lot of people think it is really powerful. Some still know that it only grows on ignorance, prejudice and the desire to direct your biliousness at some poor goat which in this case is a second year college student. The desire for equality in one way or another was born at the exact moment the first child entered this world having a black mother and a lighter father. That child who ever and wherever, carried implanted genetically within, the ego resting inside the white man ever ready to flow onward in his issue be it mixed or what not.

If your group had been conscientiously concerned about this, you would have been talking to him privately, not lambasting him publicly in free space of forum.

By the way, did any of you (you must be baseball fans, you throw such mean curves) see a ball game in Monroe Sun. Aug. 8? If you didn't, I know you didn't pass over Paul Martin's stuff. There used to be an old southern custom that started off like this, "Meet me on the outside." I'll be around... Just how southern are you?

Editor, Morning World:
I would like to take this opportunity to express my views on the subject of segregation, and also a word to Mr. Thomas A. Hilton and the group of true southerners and loyal Americans.

I quote an article from Pearl Buck in "Pearl Buck Speaks For Democracy" foreword by Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt.

"With all the evils that Hitlerism has, at least it has one virtue, that it makes no pretense of loving its fellowman and wanting all people to be free and equal."

"Everybody knows where Nazism stands and what to expect of it, cruel as it is and dangerous as it is to civilization, it is less cruel, and it may be less dangerous in the end, than the sort of Democracy which is not real enough or strong enough to practice what it preaches."

Negroes, however, are only human beings, subject to all the winds and waves of law, love and life. I want to say we would dispose of them just like we dispose of many children with Negro mothers and white fathers. We send them to school and try to give them an education, since their fathers are not man enough to help with them in any way, we do the best we can.

Our children should not be neglected just because they are Negroes, our women should not be unduly because they are colored, and no man should be dumb because he is dark.

Why I Went To The Nudist Convention?

For Smith, Ark.

Editor, Morning World:
You, I feel sure, will be glad to issue some kind of a news release through your columns that will set the records straight as to why I went to the nudist convention in Battle Creek, Michigan.

Certainly, nothing could be more disgusting than to think of a minister of the Gospel putting on a "peeping Tom" show in a nudist colony, and that seems to be the impression the nation has received. This is because one important fact has never been released by the press, namely, I was invited by the nudists and publicly challenged by them to accept their invitation through the press.

Hearing of my crusade against nudism, I received a letter dated July 12, 1954, signed by Norvall E. Packwood, Executive Director American Sunbathing Association, Box 38, Mays Landing, New Jersey. I now quote one paragraph from this letter:

"The main purpose of this letter is not, however, to call attention to these matters as much as it is for the purpose of extending to you an official invitation to attend the 23rd annual convention of the American Sunbathing Association, to be held August 1st to 8th, inclusive at Sunshine Gardens, Battle Creek, Michigan. You will have ample opportunity to talk to nudist leaders from all parts of the country and I am sure that you will find them to be some of the finest people you have met. You may use this letter as your introduction at the gate."

I decided to go to Battle Creek, Michigan for that week, not to go inside the camp, but to observe any reaction I could from close outside observation. Since I carry on a network of radio broadcasting, I arranged for my broadcast to originate from Battle Creek during that week. I now hold a copy of the Battle Creek Inquirer and News, dated August 3, 1954, page 20 column 2. From this I quote:

"Mr. Adam Packwood, to welcome his convention guests said Dr. Sawyer would be welcome at the resort and would be permitted a first visit prerogative of keeping his clothing on while he looks around and sees the real truth about nudism."

This put me in the position where I felt that I must go inside in order to keep faith with my sincere convictions that nudism is a social evil.

After they had admitted me inside the camp grounds, they then tried to force me into disrobing and violated their invitation to me completely.

I realize and respect the fact that your duty is to report the news and not to take sides. I would not have it otherwise. Please accept this letter as a sincere effort and request to get one important fact into the news. I did not go as an intruder, but as their invited guest. Their treatment of me after they accepted their invitation in good faith was the cause of my persistence.

Be Americans First

Monroe, La.

Editor, Morning World:
Back under the Roosevelt administration, the un-American Activities Committee was set up to investigate Communism and subversives with Martin Dies of Texas as chairman. After months of investigation and thousands of dollars being spent, Mr. Dies made his report to President Roosevelt and stated that there were Communists in the different branches of the government. President Roosevelt told him to keep it quiet as it might antagonize the Russians and so the Dies Committee died a natural death. Mr. Dies said any committee of this nature would have a hard time.

Next was the Permanent Investigating Committee with Joe McCarthy as its chairman. We know what a hard time they have given his committee. One Democrat was trying to get Stevens arrested and warned him that he (Stevens) would have to use rough tactics... the very thing they were going to try McCarthy for. One Democrat was more concerned about McCarthy committing a crime than he was about the Communists. Another Democrat was also playing politics with our Republicans bringing up the rear. Senator Mundt told the committee and the people that had it not been for a security officer knocking on his door at 2 a.m. Alger Hiss might never have been convicted.

Let us be Americans first then a Democrat or Republican, whichever we choose to be.

China Was Supported By

Pearson, Roosevelt, Truman

Editor, Morning World:

I would like to take this opportunity to state to you at this time to see if you, yourself, are right in your own mind concerning our government's activities throughout the whole world and here at home. It is necessary to notice how the British leaders are working. They "rabbit leg" with the Washington boys.

The American people must work up to their opportunities. By working together we can do much to promote a better America. The editorials of the Morning World are at this job and I thank God for this fine right. Real trouble is brewing in Britain to get Red China into the U. N. It is sincerely to be hoped that this attitude doesn't prevail.

Once the American people wake up to this wrong doing I am sure the dog-house door will open and then we will clean up from coast to coast. Red China is on her way to the U. N. Make no mistake about that. Red China gets anything she wants from Washington and it's time to put a stop to these bunch of Reds. They have been in the past taking our money and building the Red army to destroy us so, wake up, not tomorrow but, today!

China could never have been taken over by the Communists without the support of Roosevelt and Truman administrations and when you heard Drew Pearson fired the opening gun over the air. How wonderful the Chinese people are and peace loving they are.

At that same time Douglas MacArthur was denied the privilege of saving the war from the Communists.

Now we see trouble here at home. The left wing professors have turned the Negro into hate over segregation. Mr. Humble's letter, Public Forum, August 1, proved to me that he is a "sold out man" speaking in behalf of the Negroes. If you turn your white friend down in the South you have lost forever if the white people stop paying a tax to keep you going. You won't have money left to pay your way north. Think it over, my Negro friends, the legislature has done a nice job.

Keep The Fire Burning

Bastrop, La.

Editor, Morning World:
Today is August 11, '54. I have just finished reading the Morning World. I am highly pleased with your editorial and two articles in the news columns, i.e. ex-President Hoover's rap at misuse of presidential power, and Gen. Mark W. Clark's advice to the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee. I hail these two articles with the deepest respect and reverence, because they are the soundest and wisest advice that I have read in many days. I hold that it is a pity that we don't have millions of honest-to-God, red-blooded Americans like Mr. Hoover, and Gen. Clark who will dare to tell the truth and fight for the God-given rights of America like they do.

Procrastination is the thief of time. Why can't the leading News Papermen who usually lead the minds of the general public, get together with men like Mr. Hoover and Gen. Clark and others of their caliber, and organize an honest-to-God American political party like Thomas Jefferson did, and let's try to save our country from the menace of communism?

It will be only two short years until we will elect another president and a new set-up in Washington. It will not be wise to drag around and let those pinks and reds have another four years in Washington. The best time to weld steel, is to hit it while it is hot. Please keep the fire burning.

Why Fluoridation?

Monroe, La.

Editor, Morning World:

Fluorine has never been shown to be essential to life, although it is often present in the body. It cannot therefore be compared to other trace elements such as iodine, which is essential to the life of animals in minute amounts. I might mention that chlorine is added to water to kill germs, however, when approaching poisonous dosage it smells, and when driven off when boiled, escaping as gas into the air, whereas, fluorine is concentrated upon boiling and does not have the odor as chlorine. So even if it were true that addition of the two elements to drinking water were similar, there would be a much greater risk to fluoridation than to chloridation.

Fluorine, so far as we know, is not an essential trace element in the nutrition of either plants or animals. It is a highly toxic substance, which when used in extremely dilute amounts, painted on the teeth, and supplied in food, or drinking water, reduces dental cavities in the mouths of about one-third of the youngsters. We, however, know so little about its action on the other tissues, on old people and sick people, that to compel all to drink a water fortified with it is to assume risks that cannot as yet be calculated.

It will force people to buy water to drink and cook with especially, and perhaps with some kinds of illness or skin ailments the body could not be bathed.

Public Forum

Reverend Oliphint Defends
World Council Of Churches

Editor, Morning World:

Your recent editorial attack on the World Council of Churches with its wild scattering about of baseless and deceptive charges so misrepresents the true picture that I want to present some of the plain and frank facts.

To describe the World Council as an "offshoot of the Federal Council of Churches" is completely misrepresenting the history of these organizations.

In the first place the National Council is not the Federal Council operating under a new name. It is the result of the merging of twelve different inter-denominational agencies, of which the Federal Council was one—but only one. Here is the complete list of agencies merged into the National Council: Church World Service, Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America, Foreign Missions Conference of North America, Home Missions Council of North America, International Council of Religious Education, Inter-seminary Committee, Missionary Education Movement of the United States and Canada, National Protestant Council on Higher Education, Protestant Film Commission, Protestant Radio Commission, United Council of Church Women, United Stewardship Council. Since the National Council was thus created by official action of the member denominations, and is directly responsible to the delegated representatives of the denominations that now comprise it, it is false to say as you do that, "the average member of the churches in the nation never has a chance to say whether or not he desires to belong to the National Council." He has the democratic processes open to him in each member church.

In the second place, to describe the formation of the World Council as an "offshoot" of the Federal Council is to be ignorant of the whole modern ecumenical movement. The first assembly of the Council, held in Amsterdam, Holland, in 1948, was the culmination of more than a century of efforts to bring the various Protestant communions closer together in fellowship and cooperation. This preparation consisted of two forces: the working of the Ecumenical Spirit, which I interpret as nothing less than the working of the Spirit of God; and the various inter-denominational groups in many countries active prior to 1948. These groups began as early as the 18th century in the Sunday School associations. They were especially prevalent among the younger "mission" churches during the 19th century. They reached a new peak in 1910 when a world missionary conference was held at Edinburgh under the leadership of Dr. John R. Mott, Jerusalem, 1928; Oxford and Edinburgh, 1937; and Madras, 1938. There were other significant world-wide meetings leading to the formation of the World Council at Amsterdam in 1948.

Thus, to say that the World Council was "originated by Socialist ministers and leaders and prodded along by pro-Communists and by outright Communists," is to cast a shadow of suspicion over the entire leadership of the Protestant churches in the last one hundred years as they have sought to work together in unity.

It is also misleading to say that, "Unfortunately, several large American churches support the World Council." Here is a list of those "several" churches: National Baptist Convention, Northern Baptist Convention, Seventh Day Baptist General Conference, Church of the Brethren, Congregational Christian Churches, International Convention of the Disciples of Christ, Protestant Episcopal Church, Evangelical United Brethren Church, Evangelical and Reformed Church, the Religious Society of Friends, a. Five Years Meeting, b. General Conference, c. Philadelphia Yearly Meeting, American Lutheran Church, Augustana Evangelical Lutheran Church, Danish Evangelical Lutheran Church, United Evangelical Lutheran Church, United Lutheran Church in America, Methodist Church, African Methodist Episcopal Church, African Methodist Episcopal Zion Church, Colored Methodist Episcopal Church, Moravian Church (Northern Province), Polish National Catholic Church of America, Roumanian Orthodox Episcopate of America, Syrian Antiochian Orthodox Church, (Archdiocese of New York and all North America), Presbyterian Church in the United States of America, Presbyterian Church in the United States, United Presbyterian Church of North America, Reformed Church in America.

One hundred sixty-one member churches from forty-eight countries are now in the World Council. It is estimated that the Council represents about 168 million Protestants from all continents. The Council is not a super-church, and has no jurisdiction over the church bodies associated with it. Statements issued by the Council on theological or social issues have no authority save that which they carry by their own truth and wisdom. It is a world fellowship of denominations formed into a permanent, official Council. It exists to serve rather than to govern. Operating under these stated purposes, the World Council is in no sense an end in itself. It is wholly an instrument which seeks to serve the churches in performing those tasks which the churches desire to accomplish together.

You express great fear over the fact that eleven delegates from Czechoslovakia and Hungary will attend the meeting. In connection with this you state, "It is interesting to note that the National Executive Committee of the American Legion has already denounced the admittance of any Red Clergymen into the United States." As a matter of fact, the national Legion body adopted a resolution which simply asked that in admitting delegates for the Evanston sessions the provisions of the law be observed. The World Council, of course, has never asked for anything else.

It is inconceivable to me that the solid and traditional Christianity of our American churches will be seriously threatened or subverted by this small group. As the State Department said in approving the entrance of these delegates: "Freedom of religion has always been basic to our way of life. Clearly, the spiritual foundation on which this nation rests is too strong to be adversely affected by any Communist activities in which this small group of delegates from Communist-dominated areas might attempt to engage. The other participants in these gatherings, as well as the American people in general, will be in a position to judge by the conduct of these delegates whether they come here as churchmen or as propagandists of an aggressive and materialistic philosophy fundamentally hostile to religious faith."

The really disturbing factor in the situation lies in the existence of your fear. Why should we be afraid of eleven religious leaders from behind the Iron Curtain? May it not be that our visitors from across the seas have something to learn in this country? After all, in the free economy and under the free political institutions of America the Christian idea has found its most sympathetic intellectual climate and social environment. It is nothing short of a modern day miracle, I believe, that at a time when there is such a large degree of tension between the East and West, that the religious leaders of the world representing so many spiritual and political interpretations can come together, endeavoring to minimize their differences and magnify their common purposes. Have we reached the point in America where anything which attempts to bridge the tremendous gap between the actual world on the dizzy edge of disaster and the potential world of peace, anything to bring the peoples of the world closer together (the heart of the world's predicament), is subversive?

Your attempt to discredit the leadership of the National Council includes the name of William Howard Melish. You state that, "It is Melish who for two years in a row was selected by the National Council of Churches for teaching its missionaries (going overseas) on the 'Christian Values in Communism.'" I have in my possession a letter from an official of the National Council of Churches which says, "William Howard Melish has never to the best of my knowledge and belief, nor according to our records, had any connection with the Federal Council or the National Council." I can only conclude from this that one of you is not telling the truth!

You also state that, "Alger Hiss was a chairman of a committee in the Federal Council of Churches." My letter from the National Council of Churches states, "Alger Hiss was a member of a committee to prepare a background paper for a study conference of the Department of International Justice and Goodwill of the Federal Council of Churches which was held in February of 1940. He did not share in drafting the report of the conference. Records available to me now do not indicate whether he attended or not. This was long before any question was raised concerning his loyalty. He was not elected president of the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace until some years later, and then on recommendation of John Foster Dulles, among others. He has never had any connection whatever with the National Council of Churches."

In one of the worst wresting of quotations from their context that I have ever read, you state: "On Page 15303 of the Congressional Record of the House of Representatives, there is a portion of a report from the Office of Naval Intelligence which states that the Federal Council of Churches was guilty of giving aid and comfort to the Communists and was extremely active against any matter pertaining to National Defense." As a matter of fact, "Naval Intelligence" never took any such action. What actually happened was that a minor officer of Naval Intelligence condemned the Council. His statement was introduced into the Congressional Record of September 10, 1935 by Congressman Maury Maverick of Texas, NOT TO SUPPORT THE CHARGES but to illustrate the irresponsible way in which an officer had misrepresented civilian organizations. The New York Times of December 7, 1935 reported that President Roosevelt, following protests against these unfounded and false charges, instructed the Army and Navy to make no such comments on civilian organizations without his specific consent. Read the whole account of it for yourself in the Congressional Record, Vol. 79, No. 180, Pages 15270-15273. There is a vast difference between truth and distortion!

It is interesting that not once did you mention some of the distinguished clergy and laymen who have been and currently are officers and leaders in the various councils. For example, no one could guess from your editorials that the man elected as the first president of the national council was the Right Reverend Henry Knox Sherrill, presiding bishop of the Protestant Episcopal Church. Nor could one guess that Charles P. Taft, brother of the late Senator Robert Taft, has served as a president of the federal council. (Do you suppose there could be a "pink fringe" in the Taft family?) Or that the present officers of the national council are, as follows: president, William C. Martin, a bishop of the Methodist Church; vice presidents at large, Mrs. Olive Ann Beech, president, Beech Aircraft Corporation; the Right Reverend Karl M. Block, a bishop of the Protestant Episcopal Church; Jasper E. Crane, director, E. I. du Pont de Nemours and Co., Inc.; Dr. Robert P. Daniel, president, Virginia State College, Petersburg, Va.; Dr. Herman M. Morse, moderator of the Presbyterian Church, U. S. A.; Mrs. Norman Vincent Peale, president, Women's Board of Domestic Missions of the Reformed Church in America; treasurer, Charles E. Wilson, former president of General Electric Co.

In another place you made the statement, "Bishop Oxniam, presently the head of the WCC..." As a matter of fact, Dr. John R. Mott is the honorary president, and there are six presidents, as follows: Archbishop Athenagoras, London; Bishop Eivind Berggrav, Norway; Rev. Dr. Marc Boegner, France; The Archbishop of Canterbury, England, (that is not the Rev. Dean); Miss Sarah Chakko, India, (recently deceased); and Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam, United States.

In this campaign of defamation and disruption against the World Council in which you have become an accomplice, it is my opinion that you will only succeed in contributing to the confusion, the groundless fears and the misdirection of the uniformed portion of the American public.

When President Eisenhower stands before the World Council to address a special session of the assembly on August 19th, he will be joined by the prayers of millions of sincere Christians all over the world who believe that in and through the modern ecumenical movement and the World Council of Churches, God speaks to our century. If that faith be not wholly groundless, it would seem incumbent on all concerned Christians to do everything they can to further the movement and nothing to hinder it.

Ben Oliphint, Ph. D., Minister, St. Paul's Methodist Church

(Editor's Note: The Morning World deeply appreciates this informative and timely letter from Reverend Oliphint. It wishes to merely add the following statements concerning several of the Reverend Oliphint considerations. The editor pleads "not guilty" to the thought that perhaps he had misled the readers concerning Reverend Melish's "indoctrination" of the missionaries, this newspaper quotes from "Witness," an Episcopal magazine edited by William Spofford. On page nine, there begins an article entitled "Trusting in the Spirit." It can be found in the June 11, 1953 issue. On page 11 in the article, Reverend Melish states: "I was invited last Wednesday for the second year in a row to lecture in a seminar for missionaries going into the foreign field sponsored by the National Council of Churches. The specific subject, not of my choosing but of the council's was, 'The Christian Values in Communism.'" The editor believes that perhaps the national council is confused.

Louisiana Delegation
Goes Out 'Whole Hawg'

By KAY RAY

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14. (Special)—When it comes to bringing home the bacon, the Louisiana delegation goes out "whole hawg."

Their 83rd Congress accomplishments, under the circumstances, are eye-openers. Even so, one member, Rep. Otto Passman of Monroe, modestly feels the delegation's over-all success was "pretty low."

But consider the fact that each member of the delegation is a Democrat and that Republicans controlled the Congress and then ponder this list of achievements:

1. The victorious fight for confirmation of Louisiana ownership of the rich off-shore oil deposits.
2. Authorization by the House, and the expected authorization by the Senate, of construction of the $47,000,000 Old River closure structures to prevent capture of the Mississippi River by the Atchafalaya.
3. Appropriation of $750,000 in construction funds for Ferrell's Bridge reservoir in Texas, which was called the No. 1 project in Red River flood control planning.
4. Appropriation of $750,000 in construction funds for the Port Allen-Indian Village cut-off and $80,000 in planning funds.
5. Appropriation of $63,000 in maintenance funds for Bayou Pierre, Mermentau River and Bayou Teche-Bayou Vermillion.
6. Appropriation of $450,000 for Red River bank stabilization.
7. Authorization of the $53,000,000 air and naval reserve center at Alvin Callendar field in New Orleans and appropriation of an estimated $20,000,000 toward construction of the project.
8. Transfer of Eighth naval district headquarters to Algiers, which will amount to a multi-million dollar project over a 20-year expansion of time.
9. Planned construction of a $1,750,000 internal revenue building in New Orleans.
10. Lake Charles air force base was made a permanent installation.
11. Barksdale air force base funds totaling $12,000,000 were secured, as well as additional land needed for construction purposes.
12. Cane River-Red River canal funds totaling $339,000 were obtained and the canal was constructed.
13. Deepening and widening of the Atchafalaya channel, with federal funds needed to initiate construction set at $440,000, was included in the omnibus rivers and harbors authorization bill, which, it is expected, the Senate will pass prior to adjournment.
14. Inclusion in the same authorization bill, of the Bayou Segnette titled, "International Justice and Good Will." It was stated that a report had been made and drafted by the committee on policy. It was a committee headed by John Foster Dulles. The report went further to say, "similar background data was prepared by a committee under the chairmanship of Alger Hiss."

The reference to the ONI report is a bonafide report submitted to the congress by the ONI. Several former intelligence officers have stated to the editor that the policy of the intelligence services is to permit reports to be prepared by individuals and to be released by department heads only. It is true that a minor official had drafted the report, but the report was "ok'd" by the ONI and released to the congress. President Roosevelt did attempt to halt such further reports to congress but he and two succeeding presidents have been unsuccessful in that venture.

15. The army engineering depot at Baton Rouge, which, it was feared, would be closed, was turned over to the air force.

16. A new $2,240,000 post office and courthouse for Lake Charles was approved under the new lease-purchase legislation.

Rep. James Morrison of Hammond feels that the delegation's work during the present congress is ample justification for his observation:

"As a whole, the Louisiana delegation is stronger than it has ever been before."

He credits its performance to "the seniority which has given the majority of the members powerful positions on congressional committees."

Morrison continued, "There have been many press releases saying that every congressman would have Republican opposition. Due to the strong positions held by delegation members and their accomplishments for Louisiana, however, these reports have faded. Only one member has Republican opposition and that opposition is without GOP sanction."

The items listed certainly do not tell the whole story of the delegation's work. Furthermore, only a behind-the-scenes examination of certain legislation would reveal the labor put in by the Louisiana delegation projects needed for the Pelican State.

For example, the state's senior senator, Allen J. Ellender, who is ranking Democrat on the senate appropriations committee's civil functions sub-committee, fought and secured $1,000,000 in construction funds for the Port Allen cut-off and another $1,000,000 for Ferrell's Bridge reservoir in the senate. The house had earmarked funds for neither project. When the house and senate bills were sent to the joint conference committee for reconciliation, Ellender, a conferee, won the retention of $750,000 in construction funds for each of the two projects.

Sen. Russell Long said he feels his "successful efforts to confirm Louisiana's ownership of our rich off-shore oil deposits will in the long run prove more beneficial to state than any other of my activities during the present congress."

He continued, "If I were to single out my most important achievement during the second session of the 83rd congress, I would point to the adoption of my amendment to reduce the foreign aid bill by half a billion dollars."

"As one of the Louisiana delegation which works as a closely knit team, I helped to obtain funds to commence construction of two vitally needed Louisiana flood control and navigation projects. These were construction of Ferrell's Bridge dam and reservoir, an important link in our chain of defense against floods and construction of the Morgan City - Port Allen short-cut of the intra-coastal canal, the catalyst which will accelerate development of Baton Rouge as a deep craft port."

Each member of the delegation has taken part in the fight for the major flood projects, with each specializing in the projects of keenest interest to his district.

Congressman Morrison, for example, was deeply interested in the Port Allen cut-off. Rep. Hale Boggs of New Orleans and Congressman Passman aimed much time and effort toward securing authorization by the house of the old river diversion project.

A high word of praise for Passman's efforts toward authorization of that project was spoken by Rep. George Dondero, (R., Mich.), chairman of the house public works committee.

Rep. Edward Hebert of New Orleans chalked up accomplishments which have been called worthy of 50 years' efforts. They include authorization of gigantic Alvin Callendar field, transfer of the eighth naval district headquarters to Algiers and the new internal revenue building in New Orleans.

In addition to cooperating with other members of the delegation on flood projects and tideland legislation, Rep. Overton Brooks of Shreveport has helped put through the House the reserve promotion program, worked on a reserve program for north Louisiana, used his position on the House armed services committee to aid Barksdale and other military bases in the state, and is now working on a federal office building for Shreveport, to be made possible by the conversion of the Town House housing project.

Rep. T. A. Thompson of Ville Platte introduced the first legislation providing for the lease-purchase construction of federal public buildings. A lease-purchase bill was passed by congress and signed into law by the president. The Lake Charles - federal building will be constructed under this law.

Russia Asked To Probe Shooting Of German Attorney

BERLIN, Aug. 14 (P)—U. S. authorities asked the Russians today to investigate the shooting of a West Berlin attorney on the city's outskirts four days ago, describing the incident as "an act of pure wantonness."

Ma. Gen. George Honne, commander of U. S. forces in Berlin, wrote to Soviet Maj. Gen. P. A. Dibrova that he was shocked to hear of the case.

The lawyer, Conrad Doebbeke, 65, was fired upon while he drove on the highway between the American check point and the U. S. sector border. There is a stretch of about a mile and a half of Russian zone that juts out between these two points but traffic entering or quitting the autobahn to West Germany is permitted to use it.

Doebbeke is in a Potsdam hospital in a serious condition. He was apparently shot by East German Communist border police. The East erroneously reported his death this morning, then reversed it, saying there had been a mistake in identity.

Honne wrote to Dibrova, the Soviet military commander of East Berlin:

"I have been shocked to learn that a resident of the United States sector of Berlin has been seriously wounded on the Helmsstedt autobahn by shots fired by an unknown person or persons.

"According to the information at hand, at about noon on Aug. 19, Conrad Doebbeke was fired upon while driving his automobile along the autobahn at a point about 350 yards from the Western border of the United States sector. This point would be between the American checkpoint at Dreilinden and the border of the United States sector. I understand that Doebbeke was severely wounded and is now lying in a very serious condition in a Potsdam hospital.

Batista Resigns As President To Enter Campaign

HAVANA, Cuba, Aug. 14—UP—Gen. Fulgencio Batista stepped down voluntarily Saturday night from the Cuban presidency he seized by force nearly 30 months ago to campaign for legal election to the same post.

The cabinet accorded Batista an electoral leave-of-absence and announced he would be succeeded in the interim by his right-hand man, Andres Domingo Morales del Castillo.

Morales del Castillo, 61, had been secretary of Batista since the ex-army sergeant overthrew the regime of ex-President Carlos Prío Socarras in a coup on March 10, 1952.

Batista will be the presidential candidate of a four-party government coalition in the Nov. 1 elections. His opponent will be another former president, Ramon Grau San Martin.

Reported Better

Capt. Roy Byrd, head of Troop F, Louisiana state police, was reported to be "improved" Saturday at the St. Francis sanitarium. However, he is still on the critical list and no visitors are allowed.

Byrd was taken to the hospital Monday morning after suffering a severe heart attack. His condition was unchanged until Wednesday, when attendants said he showed slight improvement. Since then, he has shown slight but steady improvement.

Byrd assumed command of Troop F with headquarters in Monroe in 1952 following the retirement of Capt. Rex Ensminger. Prior to that he was a lieutenant at troop headquarters.

3,000 Refugees Flown Daily To South Viet Nam

SAIGON, Indochina, Aug. 14 (P)—Premier Ngo Dinh Diem said today more ships and planes are needed urgently to evacuate Vietnamese refugees from Communist dominated North Viet Nam.

About 3,000 a day are being flown down now. The United States has ordered in several ships to help in the mass movement. Some estimates of the number who will choose to come South range as high as one million.

The youngest Premier, in an interview, listed the most pressing problems confronting his government as:

1. Ships and planes to move anti-Communists from North Viet Nam.
2. Drinking water for the Red River Delta seaport of Haiphong, where most of the refugees will gather for their flight South.
3. Shelter food and medicine for them.
4. Funds to get them started in South Viet Nam.
5. A credit bank to build schools, hospitals and shelter for the refugees.
6. Stabilization of the Vietnamese piastre and a solution of the problem of whether South Viet Nam, Laos, Cambodia and France will continue the same monetary standard.

Diem talked in his office in the imposing Gia-Long palace. He was neatly attired in a white sharkskin suit.

The Premier said he anticipated no conflict between his plans and those of ex-Emperor Bao Dai, the chief of state who plans to return to South Viet Nam soon after a long stay in France.

He estimated at least 25 million dollars annually will be needed for the next two years to bolster the agricultural and economic needs of the country.

Price Slash On Studebakers Not Finally Decided

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Aug. 14 (P)—The Studebaker Corp. hopes to lower prices on its 1955 model passenger cars as a result of workers' acceptance of a 14 per cent pay cut but its future price policy has not been determined definitely, board chairman Paul G. Hoffman said today.

Hoffman denied reports there would be a $100 cut in the price of next year's models. He added that reports the company would get a government contract for guided missiles also were without foundation.

"We certainly hope we will get a defense contract and as soon as possible," Hoffman said, "but no contract has been concluded and none is being negotiated now."

In the past Studebaker has made jet engines and military trucks for the government.

Retirement Of Churchill In '55 Is Paper's Guess

LONDON, Aug. 14 (P)—A new twist was given today to the when-will-Churchill-retire guessing game: Prime Minister Churchill won't quit this fall, but will call a general election next spring and then step down, the Daily Sketch predicted.

Recent speculation has generally been that Churchill would give up leadership of the Conservative government about the middle of September. That would be time enough to give Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden an opportunity to move up when Parliament reconvenes Oct. 19.

Other observers have said Churchill's 80th birthday Nov. 30 would signal his retirement.

Churchill has given no hint as to his plans.

U. S. Oil Prices Not Affected By Iranian Output

TULSA, Aug. 14—UP—Renewed oil production in Iran will not flood the U. S. with Middle East crude oil, the Oil and Gas Journal predicted Saturday.

The Journal said most of the Iranian oil will be sold in the eastern hemisphere and the effect on the U. S. oil industry "is expected to be negligible."

One of the main reasons, the Journal said, is that importing companies believe it would be "highly dangerous politically" to increase the amount of foreign crude brought into the country.

Other middle eastern nations stepped up oil production with Iran shut down, the Journal said.

"It is now up to Iran to elbow its way back into the Middle East market," the Journal said.

Grand Jury To Probe Sheppard Murder Mystery

CLEVELAND, Aug. 14 (P)—Prosecutor Frank T. Cullitan announced today he will present the murder case against Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard to the grand jury "either Monday or Tuesday" and call another osteopath and a pretty laboratory technician among the important witnesses.

A preliminary hearing had been scheduled for Monday, but the Cuyahoga County official said he would ask Common Pleas Judge William K. Thomas then to continue it. He did not explain this move.

Under Ohio law, a prosecutor can submit evidence to a grand jury without waiting for an arrested person to be heard over in a preliminary hearing.

Dr. Sheppard, a handsome, 30-year-old osteopath, has been charged with first degree murder in the fatal bludgeoning of his pregnant wife, Marilyn, 31, in their fashionable lake shore home last July 4. He was arrested July 30 and held in jail since while his attorneys and county officials spar over the legality of the proceedings against him.

Cullitan estimated today it would take two or three days to present the case to the grand jury, which would have to decide whether to indict the defendant or free him.

He told a reporter the witnesses would include Dr. Lester Hovesten of Glendale, Calif., a guest who left the Sheppard home the day before the slaying; and pretty 24-year-old Susan Hayes of Los Angeles.

The auburn haired Miss Hayes has signed a statement in which she admits she was intimate with Dr. Sheppard when he and his wife were in California last March, Cullitan has said previously.

Builders Holding State Convention

SHREVEPORT, La., Aug. 14—UP—The annual convention of the Louisiana State Building and Construction Trades Council began here today with some 200 delegates attending.

The council was expected to center its attention of the effect and application of laws passed during the 1954 session of the Louisiana legislature, said W. B. Parish, district vice-president.

Joseph Keenan of Washington, D. C., secretary of the building and construction trades department of the American Federation of Labor, was expected to arrive at the convention today.

A total of 18 building trades crafts and more than 70 individual local unions in the state are represented by the convention delegates.

Ike Uses Brush While In Camp

THURMONT, Md., Aug. 14 (P)—President Eisenhower got out a brush and easel today and worked with his oil paints at his Catoctin Mountain lodge.

Eisenhower turned to his hobby after approving emergency flood relief for Pakistan. He dispatched a memorandum to Washington authorizing United States aid.

The President and his family—Mrs. Eisenhower, their three young grandchildren and their son and daughter-in-law, Maj. and Mrs. John S. Eisenhower arrived here Thursday evening for the week end. The Eisenhowers plan to return to Washington tomorrow evening.

Gen. Zwicker To Go To Japan On New Assignment

CAMP KILMER, N. J., Aug. 14 (P)—Brig. Gen. Ralph W. Zwicker, one-time target of Sen. McCarthy's remark, "You shouldn't hold any command," today disclosed he is being relieved of his command here and reassigned to Japan.

The beribboned combat veteran, whose famous closed-door clash with Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) helped trigger the Army-McCarthy row, said his new orders read, "U. S. Army Forces, Far East, Zama, Japan."

Zwicker, 50, a career Army man who took over command of this East Coast staging area on July 13, 1953, said through the camp's public information office he expects to be on his way to the Far East next month.

Zwicker and McCarthy, head of the Senate Investigations subcommittee, crossed verbal swords in New York Feb. 18 over an honorable discharge granted Maj. Irving Peress, Queens, N. Y., dentist McCarthy referred to as a "Fifth Amendment Communist."

McCarthy, informed of Zwicker's new assignment, told newsmen in Washington today he will want the general to testify when he reopens the Peress case.

"I still want Zwicker back," McCarthy said. "I wouldn't want to hold up his assignment now."

Surgery Is Set For W. Huckaby

Monroe Commissioner of Streets and Parks Wayne Huckaby will undergo surgery for a kidney ailment Monday morning at St. Francis Sanitarium here, it was revealed yesterday.

Huckaby was hospitalized early last week, and was reported yesterday as resting well.

"We shouldn't vote money for an organization that has failed so miserably and that now says Congress can't know anything about its operations," McCarthy said.

Fulbright, one of the senators who has brought censure charges against McCarthy, said that he did not know of Congress being deprived of any information by Stassen. He added that by and large he thought Stassen had done "a very good job."

Also coming to Stassen's defense, Dirksen said that when the foreign aid director appeared before the Senate Appropriations Committee

Democratic State Central Committee To Name Ellis' Successor Tomorrow

BATON ROUGE, La., Aug. 14 — Democratic Committeeman Frank UP—The 100-man Louisiana Democratic State Central Committee meets here Monday to name a successor for Louisiana National Democratic Committeeman Frank B. Ellis. Ellis, a New Orleans attorney, resigned his post to return to private law practice after failing to unseat Sen. Allen J. Ellender in the July 27th Democratic primary. Some member of the committee had urged Ellis to reconsider his resignation, but he refused to do so.

Two young attorneys, Robert Ainsworth of New Orleans, and Camille Gravel of Alexandria, are seeking the spot.

Though not a member of the committee, Ainsworth is widely known throughout the state as administration floor leader and president pro tem of the state Senate. In the previous session, he skillfully guided Gov. Robert Kennon's two big bond issues through the upper house.

Gravel, a member of the committee, is a colleague of former Gov. Earl K. Long, although Long has denied he is actively backing anyone for the post.

Ainsworth has the backing of Kennon as well as Mayor DeLesseps Morrison of New Orleans.

Despite Long's disavowal, many observers see the fight between Ainsworth and Gravel as a behind-the-scenes political struggle be-

State Police Report

Mayor Morrison, Henry Kaiser In Rio De Janeiro

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil, Aug. 14 —UP—New Orleans, La., Mayor deLesseps Morrison and a party including industrialist Henry Kaiser, will arrive in politically restless Brazil tonight for a survey of investment possibilities here.

The arrival of the group from Lima, Peru, co-incided with the easing of the political crisis which has crippled the nation during the nine days since the Aug. 5 murder of air force officer.

Calm was restored when the armed forces agreed to form a united front in defense of public order and due processes of law. Morrison and Kaiser will meet Finance Minister Oswaldo Aranha and Brazilian industrial leaders during their five days visit to Rio. Later they will proceed to Sao Paulo where further talks with industrialists are planned.

Kaiser is known to be exploring investment possibilities in South America, particularly in the automotive field.

The Americans are expected to inquire into the political unrest which followed the death of the air newspaper editor and the possible effects on the climate for investment here.

Air Ministry Is Silent On Saucer Report

LONDON, Aug. 14—UP—A spokesman for the British air ministry said Saturday it chose to remain silent on its investigation into the July 1 report of a "flying jellyfish" in the skies off Labrador.

"This doesn't necessarily mean there's any element of mystery in the matter," the spokesman said. "We simply do not make statements of such inquiries except in very rare cases."

The pilot of a British Overseas Airways Stratocruiser reported seeing a dark speeding object escorting his airliner near Gander, The big object which kept changing shape like a jellyfish was accompanied by a half dozen smaller satellites, crewmen said.

There has been newspaper speculation here that the objects were simply shadows of the plane's windows reflected against the clouds, but the experienced pilot doubted this explanation.

The United States has a total of 133 national forests in 40 states, Alaska, and Puerto Rico.

Friendly Wrangle Concluded

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14 (Special)—The last straw broke this week in a friendly wrangle between Louisiana's Rep. Overton Brooks and Texas' Rep. Jack Brooks over the Sabine River Compact.

And to Rep. T. A. Thompson, a bystander who also had worked for the compact, went the vote of contention—credit on the House side of the Capitol for the congressional okay on the compact.

Speaker of the House Joseph W. Martin Jr., Massachusetts, presented to Thompson the gavel used in the final passage of the Senate bill which authorized the compact for development of the Sabine River by Louisiana and Texas.

Martin's letter accompanying the gavel said:

"Because of the great interest you displayed in connection with the development and passage of legislation authorizing the Sabine River Compact between the states of Louisiana and Texas, I am happy to present to you my gavel which was used on the occasion of the final passage of S. 3699.

"With kindest personal regards and best wishes for the successful development of this natural resource, I remain, Sincerely yours, Joe W. Martin Jr., Speaker of the House."

Congressman Brooks of Louisiana introduced a bill providing for compact authorization approximately one year ago. This summer the Texas Brooks tossed into the House hopper a similar bill.

Meanwhile, Texas Sens. Lyndon Johnson and Price Daniel introduced in the Senate a bill providing for the authorization. It was this bill which was passed ultimately by the Senate and the House and signed into law this week by President Eisenhower.

The Sabine River forms a boundary between the districts of Thompson and Overton Brooks and Texas.

If you serve cream sauce often, you'll find it convenient to keep a butter-flour mixture in the refrigerator to use in it. Just blend a half cup of butter or margarine with a half cup of flour and store in a tightly covered jar. For a thin sauce, stir 1½ tablespoons of the paste into 1 cup of scalded milk, then stir constantly until bubbly and thickened. For a medium sauce, use 3 tablespoons paste and 1 cup milk.

DONATES BOAT, MOTOR FOR EMERGENCY USE—Ouachita parish Sheriff Bailey Grant is shown with members of the Monroe fire department inspecting an aluminum boat and 10 horsepower motor which his department donated to be used with the Legion truck on emergency calls. The boat, one of two needed by the fire department for dragging operations, will be used in Ouachita parish only, according to the agreement by the two departments. Pictured from left to right are N. Northeast Geological Students Recall Events Of Adventurous Tour

By EZRA ADAMS

"Those big mosquitoes in the Black Hills of South Dakota are equipped for snow, wind and humans," observed James Deal, member of a group from Northeast State's geology class, on a recent tour.

Departing in automobiles from Monroe for a 30-day project the students were accompanied by their college instructor, John H. McCarter, his wife and six-month-old son, John H. McCarter, III.

More than being pleasant for temperature's sake, the snow found along the way was welcome as a refrigerant for young John's milk formula.

Seven students participated in the traveling summer camp. They were: James Deal, Charles Swain, Larry Tucker, Percy Wheeler, James Eatmon, all of Monroe; Rob Curry, Fairbanks; Lloyd Crosby, Arkansas.

Cupid sent a piercing arrow through the hearts of at least one of these young men and his new Batesville, Arkansas acquaintance. Naturally, he voted to accept the townspeople's invitation to return there on next year's field trip.

During the four-week stay in Batesville, daily surveys radiating into the country side as far as 25 miles from town, were made and a geological map of the area was prepared. Members of the group were given kitchen privileges in the dormitory of Arkansas (Presbyterian) College. They were honored as special guests at dancing and refreshment parties in a banquet hall and the Batesville Country Club.

Arkansas cave exploration proved interesting to most of the students but rather chilly to one of them. As he stood precariously straddling a narrow, rocky crevice in a semi-darkened cave, he slipped and fell into deep, cold water. Buddies rushed to his aid and found him crawling back on a higher rock.

In another cave, "jillions" of bats hurried themselves hither and thither, squeaking their high pitched shrieks.

Leaving Batesville, the party advanced northward and before their return home two weeks later, they ate, slept and studied in a total of 12 states, and rode 4500 miles.

Studying from sight the geological structures of various areas, the travelers made their way to Grand Teton, and Yellowstone National Parks, in northwest Wyoming, before heading back to Monroe.

Stretching out in their sleeping bags several nights in sight of snow, they visited seven nationally famous landmarks: Lewis and Clark State Park, Iowa; The Bad Lands, S. D.; Black Hills, S. D.; Yellowstone and Grand Teton National parks, Wyoming; "Buffalo Bill" Cody Museum, Cody, Wyoming; and Rocky Mountain National Park, Colorado.

In the Black Hills, they found Mount Rushmore, with its faces of former presidents Theodore Roosevelt, Thomas Jefferson, George Washington, and Abraham Lincoln. They learned these granite faces are in proportionate size to a man 450 feet tall, measuring 11 feet across the inside portion of one eye. They were told that Congress authorized the work as a national monument on March 3, 1925, and that the sculptor, Gutzon Borglum, had about finished it when he died in 1941. His son, Lincoln Borglum, completed the project later the same year.

One night during the trip, after extinguishing the cook's open fire and settling down to sleep, the students were alarmed at an unexpected guest. The rattlesnake was killed with a geology hammer after a .22 calibre rifle malfunctioned.

An interesting visit was made to "Buffalo Bill" Cody Museum. Here they saw Cody's guns, clothes and the only scalp he ever took. Once worn by an Indian chief who helped in the massacre of Cody's friend, General Custer, and who later challenged "Buffalo Bill" to a duel with knives and tomahawks, the scalp was well preserved.

After they left Batesville, the students allowed their beards to grow and attracted much attention from other tourists and people along their route.

The group returned to Monroe with many geological specimens for individual collections and for Northeast's future classes.

Symington Says U. S. Air Power Alarmingly Low

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14—UP—Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo.) charged Saturday that Chairman Leverett Saltonstall (R-Mass.) of the Senate Armed Services committee has given the nation a "misleading and dangerous" appraisal of the administration's air power program.

Symington, who was Air Force secretary in the Truman administration, renewed his plea for a stepped-up American air power program to meet the growing Russian threat, particularly in guided missiles.

In a strongly worded Senate speech, Symington offered a point-by-point rebuttal to a speech last Saturday in which Saltonstall claimed the administration's Air Force program is sound and that there is "no urgency" requiring a rapid buildup. Saltonstall's speech had been in reply to an earlier speech by Symington claiming the administration was short-changing the Air Force.

Symington said Saturday that Saltonstall's self-described "calm and objective appraisal" was "so calm as to appear to be concerned with events in another planet."

Saltonstall, Symington said, made "scarcely any mention of the ominous and growing Red air force" and no mention whatever of the "increasing Soviet stockpile of atomic and hydrogen bombs" and "Soviet progress in long-range guided missiles, which in a few years will be able to reach this country directly."

Saltonstall pinned his appraisal largely on a statement last March by Adm. Arthur W. Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, that U. S. airpower "is superior to that of any other nation."

This statement, Symington said, ignores "the important fact... that the Reds have more than half again as many planes assigned to active combat units as the United States Air Force, Army, Navy and Marines combined."

"Efforts to obscure the disparity in combat strength between this country and Russia... are misleading and dangerous," Symington declared. "We are not matching some of the progress of the Communists either in quantity or quality of air power."

Chamber Claims Top Role In Fight On Freight Rates

The Monroe-West Monroe Chamber of Commerce transportation committee has announced that in Case No. 6562 before the Louisiana Public Service Commission the committee opposed a move by the motor freight haulers to increase the intrastate tariffs from $1.40 to $2.00 minimum charge.

Harry Dixon, who represented the Chamber of Commerce at the Baton Rouge hearings, reported that due to pressure exerted by chamber of commerce and shippers the Public Service commission granted only a slightly increased tariff in behalf of motor freight lines.

This means that, due to the mounting costs of operation, the Public Service Commission granted the motor freight carriers a minimum charge of approximately 24 cents in lieu of the 60 cents increase which they were requesting.

Chamber of Commerce transportation committee Chairman F. W. Fasteling applauded the fine work of Dixon and contended that "this one move by the Chamber of Commerce is helping to hold down the minimum increase which will result in thousands of dollars saved for the Monroe trade area."

Demos And GOP Plan Meetings To Map Campaigns

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14—UP—The Republican and Democratic high commands each are getting set for a final big meeting within the next month to lay plans for the crucial congressional election campaign.

In addition, the Democrats will hold a special mid-western farm conference to point up their differences with the Eisenhower administration on that particular issue.

The political calendar: Aug. 28—The Democratic farm conference at Sioux Falls, S. D., to which have been invited party officials and farm leaders from 14 midwestern states.

Aug. 30—Sept. 1—A three day workshop session of the Republican national committee at Cincinnati to discuss such things as issues, organization, and get-out-the-vote techniques.

Sept. 17-18—A similar meeting of the Democratic national committee at Indianapolis, tied into a $100-a-plate dinner at which Adlai

E. Stevenson will be the principal speaker. Former President Harry S. Truman also may attend.

These will be the last top-level meetings of the two parties before they knuckle down to the campaign to win control of Congress for the next two years. It will be a bruising campaign as the two parties battle over the present razor-thin Republican edge.

The current congressional line-up:

House — Republicans 219; Democrats 213; Independent 1 (two vacancies).

Senate — Republicans 48; Democrats 47; Independent 1.

The Republicans, bucking a tradition that the party in power loses seats in a mid-term election, plan their Cincinnati meeting as a deadly serious affair, with a minimum of high-sounding oratory.

The Democratic meeting at Indianapolis is destined to produce a hard-swinging attack on the record of the first two years of President Eisenhower's administration.

Grand Jury Will Hear Lieutenant On Police Force

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 24.—UP—A police lieutenant and an ex-convict have been subpoenaed to appear before the Orleans parish grand jury Tuesday.

The lieutenant, Louis G. Hill of the sixth district, was questioned earlier this week by the jury which is investigating the police department.

Hill appeared as a witness during the special citizens committee investigation, a report of which was submitted to the grand jury.

OBSERVE DEMONSTRATION — The busy housewife finds that a home freezer is a big labor and time saving device, especially when there is sickness in the home. This was demonstrated to farm women at Farm and Home Week activities last week at Louisiana State University, Baton Rouge, by Miss Anne Gilliam, assistant home service director of a central Louisiana power company. She showed how the patient's tray could be prepared ahead of time and placed in the freezer until time to be served. Shown here, from left, are Mrs. D. B. Fuller, Baskin; Miss Gilliam; Mrs. C. H. Vanderville, Rayville, and Mrs. J. R. Agin, West Monroe.

11 Leaders Of Nationalists In Morocco Jailed

CASABLANCA, Morocco, Aug. 14 (AP) — The French announced today they had arrested 11 Nationalist leaders in Marrakech, including one wanted for an attempt on the life of Sultan Moulay Mohammed Ben Arafat.

It was also disclosed that foreign legionnaires and French soldiers rounded up 280 Arabs in the native quarter of Petitjean, where there was a serious rioting recently. Troops surrounded the quarter before dawn yesterday and searched every house.

The latest arrests are in addition to several thousand made in the last week. Some estimates indicate up to 3,000 persons are detained.

Reinforcing French regular troops arrived from France today to join the foreign legionnaires, and regulars and police now strictly controlling the major cities.

Despite a crippling general strike enforced by the underground (istiglal) (independence) party, the protectorate remained calm on the surface, although three Moroccans were killed in Casablanca last night.

7 Convicted Of Starting Fires In Woods Areas

BATON ROUGE, Aug. 14 (AP) — State Forester James E. Mixon today reported the arrest and conviction of seven persons for criminal negligence in connection with forest fires during the past week.

Fines ranged from $12.50 to $25. Mixon said the arrests included a pulpwood worker, a sawmill hand, a box factory employee and "others who gain their livelihood from the forests and should know better than to let a fire get away from them in the woods."

He reported that the commission has added two more enforcement officers to pursue the drive against negligence in the woodlands.

Arrests were made in Tangipahoa, Bienville, Caldwell and De Soto parishes. Fires resulted from people smoking out horns, clearing land or burning over fields. In each case, the fire got out of hand.

"Proper fines by justices of the peace in negligent fire cases," Mixon said, "will cause field and slash burners to exercise caution in the future."

THE CITY'S PROGRAM TO IMPROVE ELECTRIC SERVICE

PLANS COMPLETED FOR $1,700,000.00 OF MAJOR ADDITIONS AND IMPROVEMENTS TO MUNICIPAL ELECTRIC POWER PLANT AND DISTRIBUTION SYSTEM!
CONSTRUCTION NOW UNDERWAY!

The Mayor and Commission Council Request the Cooperation and Patience of the Public Until Electrical Construction Program Is Completed.

Rapid Growth of Monroe Spurs Electric Use by Public:

The City of Monroe is now experiencing the most rapid growth of electric usage in its history. This is due to the rapid increase in population; the widespread construction of new homes, commercial establishments, and industries; the public's purchase of many new electric appliances, air conditioning units, TV sets, additional lighting, and greater use of power. In a comparatively short time the electric peak load (especially the summer load) has spurred ahead of the capacity of the Municipal Power Plant and Distribution System. The Mayor and Council have, within the last few months, authorized a major Electrical Program totaling $1,700,000 of additions and improvements so that the capacity of the Power Plant and Distribution System will be increased to take care of the City's rapid growth. The program is scheduled for completion in 1955. Until this program is completed, there may be occasional cases of poor voltage in some areas of the City, or even interruption of power supply.

Most of the cities in the South are experiencing the same rapid increase in electrical load, and the same problems of having to expand their electric systems urgently in order to take care of the increased usage of electricity by the public.

New Electric Program Inaugurated Last Fall:

Early in the Fall of 1953 the Mayor and Commission Council saw the sharp upward trend of electric usage developing, and inaugurated a major Electrical Program to cope with this. Consulting Engineers were employed, and plans were drawn for making additions and improvements to the Electric Power Plant and Distribution System as rapidly as possible.

The Electrical Program, as developed, includes the following major items and the following expenditures:

(A) Expansion of Power Plant	$1,525,000
(B) Expansion of Underground Network System, serving Downtown Business Section	65,000
(C) Installation of 2 Large Autotransformer Substations, to regulate the voltage of the downtown Underground Network	10,000
(D) Installation of Large Overhead Feeders and Transformers to Improve electric service in various Residential and Commercial Areas	100,000

TOTAL COST $1,700,000

This Program is now under construction. The Power Plant work is scheduled for completion in the Spring of 1955, and the remainder is scheduled for completion at various times between the Fall of 1954 and Summer of 1955. Contracts for the major portion of the Electrical Program have already been signed; the Power Plant construction work has been started; the major expansion of the Downtown Underground Network is about to get underway; and the improvements to the Overhead Distribution System are scheduled to begin this Fall.

Acts of Nature Caused Recent Power Interruptions:

On Wednesday, August 4, 1954, a wind-storm resulted in a number of broken tree-limbs, and caused a number of powerline breakages to occur at intervals. The power supply was interrupted in various Residential and Commercial areas, and many people became annoyed and angered. Some of them blamed the City administration, when actually the situation was caused by an act over which we had no control.

The employees of the Municipal Electric Department worked tirelessly against heavy odds to repair the damage quickly, and keep the service on as continuously as possible. The Mayor and Commission Council wish to express their appreciation of the public spirited work done by the employees of the Municipal Electric Department on that occasion.

A similar incident caused a porcelain "bushing" to explode on a piece of equipment in the Ninth Street Electrical Substation during the following week, again causing a number of power interruptions. Again the employees of the Municipal Electric Department repaired the damage within a few hours; but in the meantime this situation caused further annoyance to various citizens.

It is because of these misunderstandings, that the Mayor and Commission Council decided to issue this public statement to inform the public of the Electrical Program already inaugurated and underway to improve electric service conditions in Monroe.

Details of the Electrical Program Now Under Way to Improve Electric Service in Monroe

(A) Expansion of Power Plant:

The City's Electric Power Plant, located on Park Avenue is now being expanded and improved. A new 7,500 KW steam-electric turbo-generator unit has been authorized for installation in an addition to the present building. Since the capacity of the present plant is 27,000 KW this will increase the City's electric generating capacity by 28%. The cost of this expansion is estimated as $1,525,000. Contracts for this work have been signed with Westinghouse, General Electric, J. F. Pritchard and Company, Grinnell Company, Hydrocarbon Construction Company, Austin Building Company, Riley Stoker Company, and various other firms. The addition to the Power Plant is scheduled for completion by February 1, 1955.

(B) Expansion of Downtown Underground Network:

The "Underground Network System" which supplies electricity to certain areas of the downtown business section is being reinforced and expanded in capacity. This will add 25% to the transformer capacity of the Underground Network System, and will strengthen its current-carrying capacity through the addition of several thousand feet of copper cable.

The City signed a contract with Moore Electric Company on June 30, 1954, authorizing this Contractor to furnish and install these cables, and to install the additional network transformer in a new underground vault. The City has already purchased and received the network transformer, and Moore Electric will start the underground-vault construction within the next few days; this work is scheduled for completion by November 30, 1954.

The cost of this work is as follows:

(A) Transformer (purchased by City) ..	$12,000
(B) Construction of transformer vault, electrical installation, furnishing and installing cables	$53,000
TOTAL	$65,000

(C) Installation of Autotransformers for Downtown Network:

The voltage conditions on the downtown "Underground Network System" are being improved by the installation of two large Autotransformer Substations in the downtown business area; these will regulate the voltage of the electricity supplied to the Underground Network System. The City has advertised for bids on the Autotransformers, and the bids will be received on August 24, 1954. The cost of these Autotransformer Substations is estimated as $10,000.

(D) Additions and Improvements to Overhead Distribution:

Voltage conditions will be improved in many other areas of the City (both residential and commercial) by the expenditure of $100,000, which has been authorized to make improvements and additions to the Overhead Distribution System which serves the City generally. This work will include the installation of larger copper feeders and larger pole-mounted transformers, to replace those feeders and transformers which have become inadequate due to the increase of population and the greater usage of electricity.

In July, 1954, there was an increase in the use of electric power over July, 1953, of 2,220,000 K.W.H., an increase of more than 25%.

Consulting engineers have been instructed to prepare plans and specifications for further and additional improvements to the Distribution System.

It is possible that the wiring of many homes and places of business was done many years ago and that wiring is not now adequate to carry the additional load caused by the additions of radios, television sets, refrigerators, deep freezers, washing machines, dryers, dish washers, electric irons, and many other electrical appliances and gadgets. May we respectfully ask you to have the wiring in your homes and places of business carefully examined to the end that you may determine whether or not your electric wiring is adequate for your needs and is not overloaded. This, we respectfully submit, is your obligation and duty.

We feel that when the improvements outlined herein have been completed, the causes for the interruption of electric service resulting in inconvenience to many of our citizens in this unusual hot season will be removed. We feel that you should be advised of what your officials have done, are doing and what they propose to do to give you good electric service and to prevent, as far as possible, the interruption of that service with resulting inconvenience to you. We would therefore appreciate your bearing with us until these unusual conditions can be met.

RESPECTFULLY SUBMITTED.

Miss Yvonne Brett And Jack Herron Wed In Beautiful Church Ceremony Yesterday

Miss Yvonne Brett and Jack Herron exchanged wedding vows in a beautiful candlelight ceremony at seven o'clock Saturday evening at the Ridge Avenue Baptist Church in West Monroe. The Rev. A. T. Mitchell, pastor, read the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the only daughter of Mrs. Nancy J. Brett of this city. Mrs. Roy Hyne of Lake City, Fla., and Mr. John C. Herron of Little Rock, Ark., are the bridegroom's parents.

Central American foliage formed a background of greenery for tall baskets of white chrysanthemums placed along the altar. A myriad of white cathedral tapers illuminated the setting as the couple stood beneath a picturesque arch entwined in greenery.

Leon Hammonds, organist, presented a concert of nuptial music and accompanied Garland Shell who sang "Because," "Through the Years," and "The Lord's Prayer."

Given in marriage by her uncle, Walter B. Brett, the bride was wearing a traditional wedding gown of ivory satin with a portrait neckline and sculptured bodice which featured a satin midriff.

The bouffant skirt extended into a chapel length train. She wore a Juliet cap of seed pearls which held her finger - tip veil of iris lace. Her bouquet was of white tube roses centered with a white orchid and mounted on a white Bible with matching satin streamers tied in love - knots.

Mrs. Warren Portier, the bride's only attendant, was attired in a waltz-length gown of light green net over taffeta and a formal jacket. She carried a colonial bouquet of yellow chrysanthemums and wore a half crown of pom-poms.

Candlelighters were Misses Sandra Rooney and Ellen Waller. They wore identical yellow formal with corsages of white carnations.

Horace Windham of Shreveport, served as best man. Ushers were William C. Hardin and James R. Welch of Shreveport.

The bride's mother chose for the occasion a pink silk organza with matching lace inserts and a corsage of orchid asters.

Mrs. Hyne, the bridegroom's mother, was becomingly attired in a light blue silk model with orchid asters.

A reception followed, in the church parlor which was also decorated with baskets of white chrysanthemums.

The bride's table was overlaid with a white lace cloth over green. Centering the table was the three-tiered wedding cake which was topped with a petite bouquet of fresh white flowers. White candles in silver holders were also placed on the table and were connected by white satin ribbons.

Mrs. Glimmer Addison presided at the punch service and Mrs. T. A. Smart served the wedding cake. Presiding at the bride's book was Miss Jo Ann Genung.

Assisting in serving were Mrs. William Vaughn Bottorff, Miss Martha Jane Oden, Miss Dianne Ryan of Orange, Tex., and Miss Joe Marie Ellett.

For a wedding trip to the Ozarks, the bride changed to a blue lace suit with matching white accessories and the orchid from her wedding bouquet.

Upon their return, they will reside in this city.

The bride attended Louisiana State University and graduated from Louisiana Tech. She is a member of Phi Mu sorority and the Altrusa Club.

Mr. Herron also attended Louisiana State University and graduated from Southwestern Louisiana Institute at Lafayette. He is a member of the North Monroe Lions Club.

and other relatives. Before returning to Monroe, they enjoyed a week at Lake Louis, Banff.

Mrs. Louis Boatner Jarrell departed this week for Greenville, S. C., where she will be the house guest of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rice for the next two weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack May are also enjoying a summer vacation in New York City.

Mrs. J. Arthur Smith, Jr., is in Baton Rouge where she was called to be with her father, Mr. S. E. Calongne, who is ill.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Williams and daughters, Barbara and Marion of Birmingham, Ala., arrived Saturday for a two-week visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Faulk.

Mrs. M. M. Tabb returned home by plane this week from Albany, N. Y., after a visit with her daughter and son, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Riley.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Johnson have returned from a four-week visit in Lethbridge, Alberta, Canada where they visited in the home of his mother, Mrs. Ida Johnson.

Miss Jan Powell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Powell, returned home this week by plane from Beaumont, Tex., where she visited her grandmother, Mrs. J. S. Powell, and her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Willard J. Hall.

Miss Martha Nicol of Ruston arrived this week-end to spend a few days with Mr. and Mrs. William Rodriguez and Miss Mary Rodriguez.

Mrs. Gordon Taylor, Jr., and small daughter, Terry Lynn, of Baton Rouge, are the house guests this week of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Facundus.

Miss Margaret Hawley of Fayetteville, N. C., is visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Hawley, Jr., this week.

Miss Beverly Hatchell Is Feted With Bridal Parties

Miss Beverly Hatchell, bride-elect of W. L. Yancey, Jr., of Rayville is being honored at a number of pre-nuptial events. On Tuesday evening she and Mr. Yancey were entertained by Dr. and Mrs. George Purvis, Mr. Al Alford and Mrs. Wilma Francis of Rayville at a barbecue. The party was held at "The Shack," the Purvis camp on Beaufort River.

Lighted signs directed the guests to the camp, where a western theme was used. A cake decorated with cowboys centered the large table where the following were seated: Miss Martha Hatchell, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hubenthal, Ed Yancey, John Morris, Joe Kall, Miss Dorothy White, Miss Carol Layton, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard White, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Griffith, Dr. and Mrs. Cyril Yancey and Mr. and Mrs. Hollis Venable, the honorees and hosts.

On Wednesday, Mrs. William

Hidden entertained at the Country Club with a linen shower. For this occasion Miss Hatchell wore a frock of black and white cotton and a corsage of chrysanthemums. She received a gift of china from her hostess. Guests included with the honoree were Miss Martha Hatchell, Mrs. Paul Ransom, Mrs. Lon Huer, Mrs. T. O. Bancroft, Jr., Mrs. Phelps Lyons, Miss Ann Shaf-to, Miss Rose Mary McGinn, Miss Clara Munholland, Mrs. Clyde Al-birton, Mrs. R. H. Pipes, Miss Barbara Buze and Mrs. C. G. Pearce Jr.

Thursday's compliment was a luncheon given at a tea room with Mrs. O. R. Brauer, Mrs. William A. Smith and Mrs. Lee Carbrey, hostesses. Pink roses and pink tube roses formed the centerpiece for the table. Miss Hatchell received a corsage of pink roses and tube roses as did her mother, Mrs. W. R. Hatchell. Other guests included Miss Martha Hatchell, Mrs. Harry Hubenthal, Mrs. Richard Pipes, Mrs. Paul Ransom, Mrs. Phelps Lyons and Miss Grace Fain. The same day Mrs. A. C. Ransom and her daughter, Mrs. Richard Pipes, entertained at bridge in the Ransom home on Alexander. Miss Hatchell won high score for the afternoon and Mrs. William Hidden the consolation prize. Others attending the party were Mrs. W. R. Hatchell, Miss Martha Hatchell, Mrs. Paul Ransom, Mrs. T. O. Bancroft, Jr., Miss Ann Shaf-to, Miss Carol Emerson, Miss Rose Mary McGinn, Miss Clara Munholland, Mrs. Harry Hubenthal and Mrs. William Botoroff.

For a delightful summer vegetable dish, cook thin strips of onion, thin rounds of squash and chopped fresh tomato together in a little butter or margarine; before serving add cooked snap beans and salt and pepper to taste. If desired, a dash of ground allspice may also be added.

MISS ALITIA ELIZABETH PARKER'S marriage to Hudson L. Miller will be celebrated in the afternoon of September 19 at the Parkview Baptist Church. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank R. Parker. Mr. Miller is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Hebert L. Miller of Farmerville.

Girl Scout News

Today's the day! After waiting all through a hot summer, the Girl Scouts leave for their first established camp experience. Among the girls registered for Wawbansee are girls who have attended day camp for years, who have gone troop camping, and others who have attended camps of other organizations. Only a few have ever been to a Girl Scout established camp, and since this is the first for the local council, it is the first for most of the girls.

Four of the girls who leave this afternoon can tell the others what it's like at Wawbansee because they camped there two years ago. Amy Hood, Charlotte Ford, Louise Lester and Betty Rose Haddad are among the few who have ever succeeded in registering at Shreveport's camp. Now that it's our camp for two weeks, they're ready to go again.

Of course, some couldn't wait until mid-August and dropped out. Others find it a good time to be at camp, at the end of the summer and just before the school rush. The plans sound as if it has been worth waiting for.

Camp staff includes Mrs. T. N. Carter, dietitian, Mrs. B. O. Yeldell, nurse, Mrs. Ella Mae Miller, of Pine Bluff, Ark., waterfront director, Pat Sanders, waterfront assistant. Unit staff includes Sue Hollingshead, Julie Ann Wooley, Joyce Dumas, Mrs. Jane Shirley of Bastrop, Jo Ann Waller, Shirley Elliott and Martha Zumwalt of Farmerville.

Annis Klie, local Girl Scout executive, will be camp director. Annis has had much experience and training in all types of Girl Scout camping, day, troop, and established. Camping is one of her hobbies, too, so that she says she can happily combine business and pleasure.

The girls who leave this after-

Again, any interested person may visit the camp this afternoon between 2:00 and 6:00, and again on closing day, two weeks from now. To reach camp drive about six miles past the Simsboro sign on Highway 80. Turn left at the Wawbansee sign, just this side of the long overpass near Arcadia. Have fun, campers!

Palmby-Mellor

TALLULAH — Mr. and Mrs. Edward Palmby announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Lola Palmby to Mr. William R. Mellor of Monroe at the home of the Rev. G. Eliot Jones in Vicksburg, Miss., on Thursday, August 5, with Rev. Jones performing the ceremony. The couple will reside in Monroe where Mr. Mellor is employed.

and accompanied Mrs. Bobby Wilson as she sang, "Ave Maria" and "Because."

The bride given in marriage by her father, was in white Chantilly lace over satin. The bodice had short sleeves with a rounded neckline encircled with pearls and iridescent sequins. The patio length skirt was very full. She wore a lace half shell trimmed with seed pearls and sequins, from which fell a shoulder-length veil of illusion. She carried a nosegay bouquet of feathered chrysanthemums and a white orchid.

Mrs. Richard Watkins was matron of honor, and only attendant. Her dress was rose pink nylon net, waltz length and trimmed with taffeta stripping and ruching. She wore pink forget-me-nots in her hair and carried a bouquet of mixed flowers.

Mr. Moore's best man was his brother, J. C. Moore of Shreveport. Following the ceremony there was an informal reception. Mrs. Frost wearing a mauve lace dress and Mrs. Moore, whose gown was blue sheer crepe, assisted in receiving. Each wore a corsage of feathered carnations and forget-me-nots.

The bride's table was covered with a Mediera cloth and held the tiered wedding cake at one end and crystal punch bowl at the opposite end. The cake was embellished in white with spun sugar bells on top. Both were surrounded at the base, with sweetheart roses, white pom chrysanthemums and fern. In the center of the table was an epergne filled with the same blossoms and tall white tapers. Matching garlands were caught at the four corners. Mrs. John Kitchingham and Mrs. Harold Black assisted in serving.

Later, the young couple left for the Gulf Coast, the bride traveling in a white and black checked two piece dress of cotton trimmed with white pique and red piping. Her accessories were black and her small hat was white. On their return, they will reside at 102 Young Street in West Monroe.

The wedding will be solemnized in late August. Miss Doane attended Northeast Louisiana State College and received her degree in home economics from Louisiana Tech.

Mr. Stevens received his degree in chemical engineering from Louisiana Tech and for the past two years has been associated with the Creole Petroleum Corporation in Venezuela.

MISS EVA CHRISTENE COSTELLO, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carmon E. Costello of Oak Grove will become the bride of Jack Charles Van Linden September 25, in the Sacred Heart Catholic Church in Oak Grove. Mr. Van Linden is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Van Linden of Grand Rapids, Michigan.

Miss Caroline Klotz, David Masur Vows Said In New Orleans Ceremony

The wedding of Miss Caroline Klotz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Klotz of Napoleonville, La., and Mr. David Masur, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Masur of Monroe, La., was celebrated in New Orleans on Sunday afternoon at 5 o'clock, at a downtown center.

Rabbi Ferdinand Hirsch of Monroe officiated, at the candlelight ceremony, which took place before an improvised altar having a background of palms, branched candelabra holding lighted white tapers, and a variety of white flowers. The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white tulle. The bodice was fashioned with a low scoop neckline outlined with heirloom rose point lace which also formed short sleeves. The long full skirt fell into a train. Her veil of heirloom lace was held to her hair mantilla fashion with a small cluster of lilies of the valley at each side. She carried a bouquet of white orchids and lilies of the valley.

Mrs. Martin Maloney of Lafayette, La., was matron of honor, and Mrs. Robert McBride of Morgan City, La., Miss Peggy Dugas of Napoleonville, and Miss Fanny Delugach of Memphis were other attendants. Miss Mildred Gene Levi of Monroe was junior bridesmaid. They all wore wheat color cotton lace and nylon tulle dresses. The lace bodices had straight necklines to which were attached shirred straps of tulle, and on the cocktail length skirts the lace formed apron effects in front and continued in back into small bustles under which were tiers of tulle. They carried tan cymbidium orchids and ivy leaves tied with rust color ribbon. The bride's cousin, Carol Jean Goldstein of New Orleans and the bridegroom's cousin, Betty Herrman of Lexington, Miss., were flower girls, wearing frocks of candlelight nylon tulle made with long bouffant skirts with ruffled effects. They carried small bouquets similar to those of the other attendants.

Mr. Masur had as his best man his cousin, Mr. Charles Dante of Dumas, Ark., and his groomsmen were other cousins, Mr. Louis Masur, Jr. of Monroe and Robert Herrman of Lexington, Miss., Mr. Henry Paris of Lexington, and Mr. David Klotz of Napoleonville, brother of the bride. Mr. Larry Saltzman of Monroe and Mr. Richard Baer of Houston, Tex., were ushers.

Following the ceremony there was a reception. Mrs. Klotz, who wore a gown of royal blue lace, was assisted in receiving by Mrs. Masur, whose dress was of mauve lace, and also by Mrs. Sam Herrman of Lexington, Miss., grandmother of the bridegroom. They all wore orchid corsage bouquets. Later in the evening Mr. Masur and his bride left on a motor trip to South Carolina. The bride traveled in a navy blue faille costume suit, which she wore with a navy blue hat and blue accessories. The young couple will make their home in Monroe.

The bride is a graduate of the University of Alabama, where she was a member of Alpha Epsilon Phi Sorority. Her mother was before her marriage Miss Hylda Baer of Monroe. Mr. Masur, whose mother is the former Miss Annette Herrman of Lexington, Miss., attended Tulane university and is a member of Zeta Beta Tau social fraternity. He served in the Army in Korea.

Among out-of-town guests here for the wedding, besides those already mentioned, were Mrs. Arnold Bernstein, Mrs. Edgar Floreheim, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Silverstein, Mrs. Louis Masur, Sr., Mrs. Louis Masur, Jr., Mrs. Sigmond Masur, Mr. and Mrs. Sylvan Masur, Mrs. Charles Saltzman, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Masur and Mrs. Ferdinand Hirsch, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Levi, of Monroe, La., Mr. and Mrs. Jack Dante, with their daughter, Julianne, and Jerry Tannenbaum of Dumas, Ark., Mr. and Mrs. L. Colvins Hold Annual Reunion

The Colvins of north Louisiana held their annual reunion here today at the Fellowship Baptist Church. This marked the third annual reunion since World War Two. The annual affair really began many years ago in 1916, the first such meeting taking place at the Unionville Church a few miles south of the present site. The meetings continued as an annual affair until 1942 when they were discontinued until 1952 because of the world war.

The meeting was well attended this year. Estimates of about 500 people were in attendance. The meeting was called to order at 10 a.m. by the 1954 president, Pearce Colvin of Ruston. The meeting opened with Dale Colvin leading the group in the song "America" and the invocation was made by the Rev. C. S. Cadwallader, pastor of Klotz, Painesville.

MISS JEAN ESTELLE MEDLIN is betrothed to Lionel Antley, son of Lloyd Antley of West Monroe. The bride-elect is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Medlin Sr. The wedding will be solemnized in the Southside Methodist Church later in the month.

the host church. The welcome address was made by Archie Colvin, filling in for the vice president, Lamar Colvin, who was unable to attend. Special music was provided by Misses Mary John and Melodie Joe Jeffcoat of Hilly and the roll call of families was made by Mrs. Nan Colvin, of Ruston.

The climax of the meeting was the address by Dr. Paul T. Henderson, of the Louisiana Tech faculty. After the address by Dr. Henderson, dinner was served on the grounds.

After the luncheon, there was a short business session by the board of directors. The board discussed plans for having the family tree published and elected officers for the next year.

Officers elected were: Archie Colvin, president; Ruel Colvin, Du-bach, vice president; Mrs. Nam M. Colvin, Ruston, secretary; Mr. C. W. Colvin, Ruston, treasurer.

YWCA Activities

"A New Century To Go" will be the theme for the Week-End Conference of the Business & Professional Girls' Clubs of the YWCA at Ft. Smith, Arkansas, on October 23-24. Plans for this conference were made by a group of delegates representing all the employed girls clubs from Arkansas and Monroe, La. The Monroe YWCA delegates were Mary Riser and Phoebe Miller. Miss Erni Rudi of Little Rock, Ark., is the chairman and Maude Brownlee of Monroe is the vice chairman for this week end conference. A report of the planning conference meeting was given by Mary Riser and Phoebe Miller at the regular meeting of the B. & P. Girls' Club at the YWCA on Thursday evening. Ella Pearl Sutton, president of the club, presided at the meeting. Maude Brownlee opened the meeting with a devotion which brought out the importance of each individual, of what simple faith and courage can do even in spite of many discouraging experiences and setbacks.

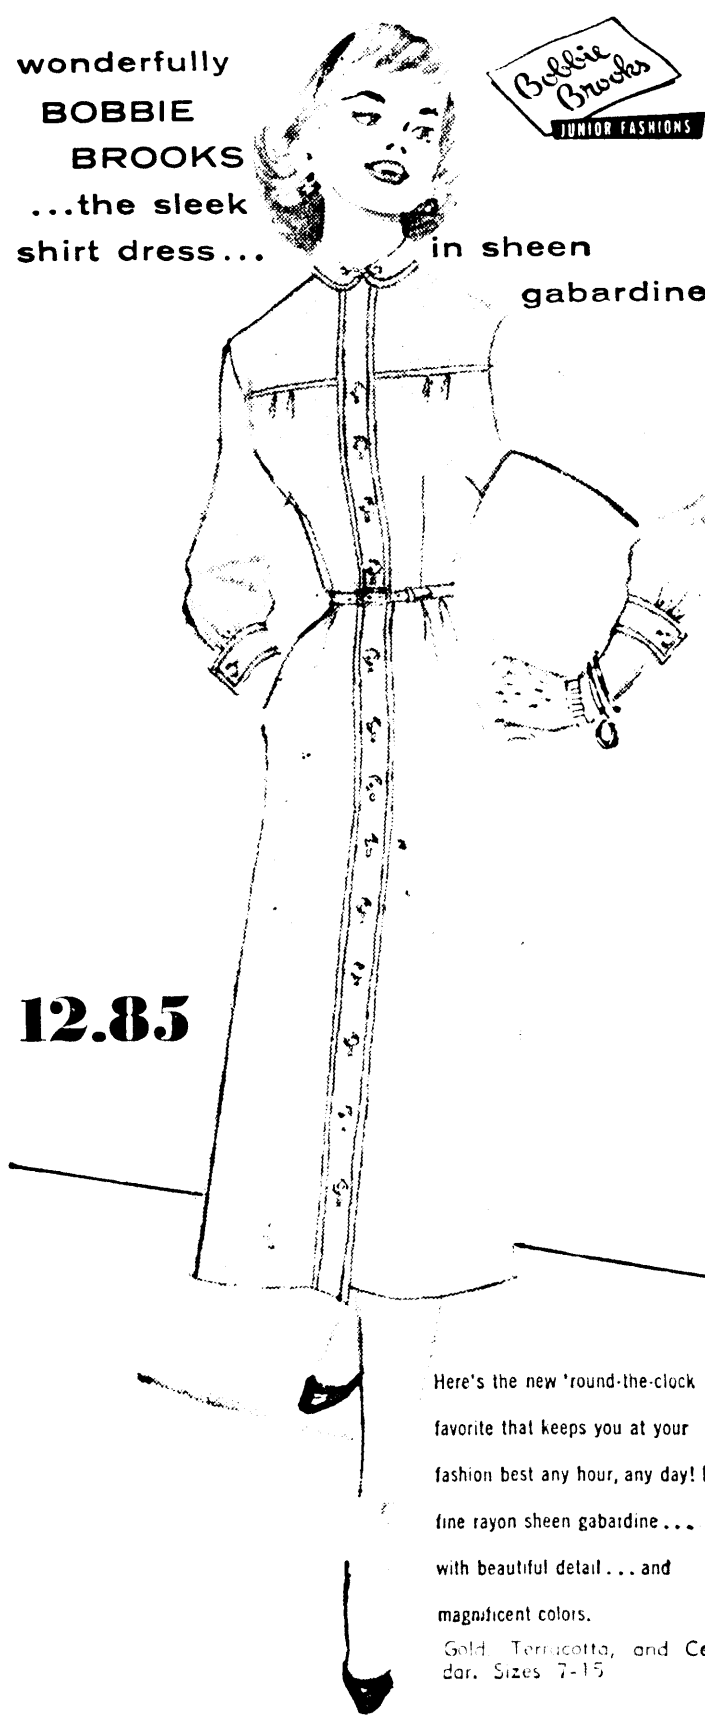

On Monday evening the YRG's held their regular supper-devotional meeting. Evelyn Stamper, president, presided at the meeting. Bonnie Ricks gave the devotional: a selection from the Upper Room on: "Be Still, and know that I am God," stressing the importance of a calm spirit and peace, of patience and peace in everyday living. A new member of the club is Montine Cox. The meeting was closed with the Mizpah benediction.

"Invest Your Best" is the theme for the Y-Teen activities for 1954-55. Nettie Marie Bacle, president of Inter-Club Council, will meet with a group of Y-Teen leaders on August 21st, Saturday, at the YWCA to make plans for all Y-Teen Clubs.

MISS SHIRLEY MARBLE

News From The Public Library

The adult readers of Ouachita Parish borrowed more books from the four branches of the Ouachita Parish Public Library during the month of July than they had borrowed during any previous month of the year. One-half of the total circulation was from the Monroe branch. There are several reasons for this increase in adult circulation. One is that people have more time during the summer months to read. Another is that college students are at home and they of course are adult readers. Television has increased the circulation of non-fiction books, because many people become interested in something which they see on a T. V. program and want to read more about it. A fourth reason for increased circulation is the fact that we are building up our book collection all the time. In July, 93 books of adult fiction, 110 books of adult non-fiction and 17 reference books were added to the collection. The adult collection now numbers 28,500 books. There should be something here for every type of reader.

Today, I want to tell you about some interesting new books which have just been added to the library collection within the past week. Stories about doctors have a great appeal to the public, probably because readers can pick up a little medical information as they go along. Among this week's new titles are two of this type. "The Healing Oath" by Andre Soubiran is a present day story, with the scene in France. No matter how difficult the way, the hero manages to remain true to his vow to cure sometimes, to relieve often, to console always. The other story with a medical background is "Banners Against the Wind" by John Jennings, a historical novel dealing with the adventures of an American doctor in the Greek war for independence in 1824.

Stories which tell us about the people who helped to make our country what it is are always popular. There are three of this type among the new books. "Brave Pursuit" by Marguerite Allis continues her story of the opening up of the Ohio country and also the story of Ashbel Field and his family. This is the story of his daughter, Connie, who was determined to have an educational and a life of her own. "Unto a Good Land" by Vilhelm Moberg is an interesting account of the Swedish migration to Minnesota. "A Voice in the Streets" by John Tebbel is the story of a young Irish immigrant who settled in New York in 1835. This is a colorful and historically true story of a growing city, populated by real men and women, who work and fight, live and love.

Two novels with a contemporary theme will find many avid readers waiting for them. "Beating Wings" by Sara Jenkins is another of her stories of the experiences of a minister. This one is particularly interesting because of the problems involved. "Stranger Come Home" by William L. Shirer deals with the experiences of a newspaper correspondent, who came back to America and found the political pressures of the day frightening and appalling.

There are three other novels among this week's additions which cannot be grouped in any special category. "Heroes of the Empty View" by James Aldridge is a fascinating story of a present day Arab leader. "The Cuckoo in the Spring" by Elizabeth Cadell is another of her fascinating stories about charming English people. It makes very pleasant summer reading. Last of all is a book that bids fair to become a classic of American literature. It is "Good-bye, My Lady" by James Street. It is a story of a boy, a dog and an old man. Written by a master of the art of story telling, it should appeal to readers of all types.

If you are not in the habit of using the Ouachita Parish Public Library, you are missing a great deal of pleasure and entertainment.

Lindsey-Elliott Vows Exchanged In Olla Church

Miss Frances Maxine Elliott, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Elliott of Olla, became the bride of James Watson Lindsey, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Lindsey of that city, in an impressive double ring ceremony performed at the Olla Baptist Church. The Rev. Filer J. Seal officiated.

The altar was decorated with tall baskets of Hawaiian evergreen and baskets of white gladioli. The couple pledged their vows beneath an arch entwined in greenery and white carnations centered with white wedding bells. On each side of the arch were branched candelabra which held white cathedral tapers.

Daniel Brockner, organist, presented nuptial music and accompanied Miss Patty Berry of Olla who sang "Always."

Given in marriage by her father, Mr. A. Elliott, the bride's gown was of pink nylon embroidered organza featuring a bouffant skirt, fitted bodice and portrait neckline. She carried a white Bible topped with a pink orchid surrounded by pink mums encircled with split mums.

Mrs. Frank James served as matron of honor. Her dress was a light blue embroidered organza with a full skirt, sculptured bodice and portrait neckline. She carried a bouquet of blue mums encircled with split carnations.

Myron Lindsey, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Ushers were Dick Elliott and Ray Duke.

The bride's mother chose for the occasion a navy blue chiffon with matching accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

Mrs. Lindsey, the bridegroom's mother, was becomingly attired in a gray silk shantung with a corsage of white carnations.

A reception followed in the educational building of the church.

The bride's table was overlaid with an imported white linen cut-work cloth over pink. Large nosegays of split carnations centered each end of the table and the sides. Centering the table was the three-tiered wedding cake which was placed on a reflector and surrounded by pink roses.

Mrs. Alice Teddie served the wedding cake while Miss Katie Lou Prestidge presided at the punch service. The guest book was kept by Mrs. Ray Duke.

For a wedding trip to Colorado Springs, Colo., where they will make their home, the bride changed to a pink linen model with matching accessories.

The bride is a graduate of Olla Standard High School.

The bridegroom is also a graduate of Olla Standard High School and Louisiana State University. He is now serving in the Air Force at Lackland Air Base.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding were: Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Prestidge of Natchitoches; Mr. and Mrs. Jack Branch of Natchitoches; Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Nunn of Columbia; Mrs. Corrine Elliott and Miss Latie Lou Prestidge both of Shreveport.

MISS BETTY LEVONNE JONES' betrothal to John Allen Norris, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. Norris of Crowley, is announced today by her mother, Mrs. A. J. Jones of Winer. The wedding will be solemnized on September 4.

MISS BEATRICE BRADLEY of Delhi, whose engagement to Mr. Cecil Charles Broussard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Otto J. Broussard of New Iberia, has been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Bradley of Delhi. The wedding will take place in early September.

Mrs. Gauden Celebrates 90th Birthday

The celebration of the 90th birthday of Mrs. Martha Sherburne Gauden of Mangham was the occasion for a picnic family reunion at Lake Louie on Saturday. For the first time in more than 20 years the five children, Mrs. W.E. Hixon, Mrs. J. Albert Anderson, Mrs. E. T. Lee, Mr. R. L. Gauden, and Mrs. Frank Odom were all together for the occasion.

The birthday dinner, prepared by the four daughters, was served in the dining room at Camp Peck, which had been previously reserved. The beautifully decorated cakes, three in number, identical in appearance bore 30 candles each and the caption "Happy Birthday, Grammie." These were the gift of a granddaughter, Mrs. J. Sherburne Anderson. The weather, the beautiful setting of the lake, and the happy reunions all conspired to make this a red letter day in the lives of the families.

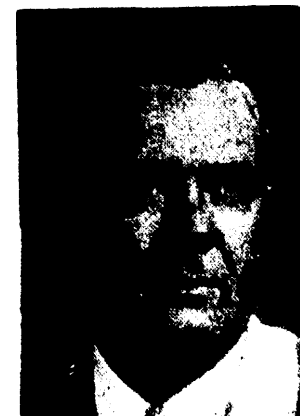

The following were in attendance from Mangham, Mr. and Mrs. E.T.

Lee and Mrs. Gauden, the honor guest; Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Hixon; from Bowling Green, Ky., Mrs. R. O. C. Green and son, Dick; from San Antonio, Tex., Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Gauden; from Baton Rouge, Mrs. J. Albert Anderson, Dr. and Mrs. J. Sherburne Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Odom and Betsy LaBlanc, Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Craig II and Charles E. Craig III and Mrs. M. A. Gillespie.

Roberts-Bullock

FERRIDAY — The wedding of Miss Jean Bullock, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Bullock of Ferriday to Mr. Maurice Roberts of Monroe, took place Sunday afternoon, at the First Baptist Church. A simple wedding with only close friends and relatives was held.

Ouachita Proud Of Outstanding Member

Ouachita Parish home demonstration women congratulate Mrs. J. B. Filhoil upon her being awarded a medal for her outstanding Christian life. This recognition was made by the Pope. The award "Pro Ecclesia et Pontifice" bestowed on Mrs. J. B. Filhoil was instituted by Pope Pius XIII in 1889 in memory of the Golden Sacred Jubilee. It is bestowed on men and women who have merited well by living and promoting noble Christian virtue by word and example and for long and devoted service to God's Holy Church.

Mrs. Filhoil has not only served her church well, but she has served and is still serving her home, her community and her state well. She has served and is still serving her community by taking the leadership in club work, always serving as president. She has been and is an active parish home demonstration council member. She was president of this organization several years. She was the second president of the State Home Demonstration Council in 1932.

Instead of giving a description of this medal, Mrs. Filhoil, we shall look forward to having the privilege of viewing it at our next parish council meeting September 18. Will you grant us this request?

Removing Stains
During these hot days ice cream stains are most common and it is wise to know the best way to remove these. If the stain is treated before it dries, the chances of removing it is increased. To remove ice cream stains, use cold water immediately and then wash in warm soap suds. Fruit and ink stains may also be removed this way too.

Freezing Bread

Freezing will keep fresh bread fresh up to a year if wrapped in special freezer wrap. However, long-time storage is not recommended because it's not an economical use of freezer space. But freezing stale bread does not restore freshness. If you put stale bread in your freezer, you will take stale bread out.

Hot Weather Refreshments

There's nothing so cooling these sultry summer days as a fruit sherbet. You may want to serve it with crisp cookies — or topped with ginger ale and served in a tall glass. You may be thinking that making ice cream or sherbet at home is too much of a chore — that you'll have to cook the mixture before freezing and then go through that tiresome session with the hand freezer. Here's a sherbet recipe that can be stirred up in a jiffy and frozen in your refrigerator. Don't be surprised at finding buttermilk in this sherbet recipe. It adds interesting and delicious flavor and texture.

Buttermilk Sherbet

2 cups buttermilk
2 1/2 cup sugar
1 cup crushed pineapple, drained
1 teaspoon vanilla
1/4 teaspoon salt

To make simply mix the buttermilk with all other ingredients. Then freeze quickly to a mush. Turn into a bowl and beat with an egg beater until well blended. Return to refrigerator tray and complete freezing.

Try this fruity dessert soon to see if it isn't a wonderful way to cool of a 90-degree afternoon.

While roamin' this week, I called on Mrs. J. D. Collier, Lamkin, La. She has a freezer filled to the top with good things to eat — among them home-made chocolate ice cream. Here is her recipe which she says is easy and quick to make.

1 cup whole milk.

Mix and stir until smooth. Whip one cup heavy cream to consistency of custard, combine. Set in deep freeze until it thickens — remove and whip. Put back in freezer. When almost solid, put in container desired.

New Zion Church Ends Fine Bible School Series

The New Zion Baptist Church closed one of its most successful Bible schools the past week. Devotionals, pledges to the American and Christian flags were included in daily exercises.

Bible stories, character stories, memory work, notebook and handwork to suit needs of each age group were taught. There were also games and refreshments.

Rev. Clyde Coulter, pastor; Miss Bonnie Ruth Mercer, state worker; and a corps of ten others carried on the program daily.

The enrollment was 117 and average attendance 103.

Packing Lunch No Chore For Efficient Mom

Packing lunch boxes for children to take to school can be made much easier and more efficient for mothers who give a bit of thought to organization in the kitchen.

Sandwich making, for example, can be speeded up if such things as canned meats, fish, peanut butter, jelly, sliced cheese, catsup, mustard, pickles and olives, are kept on hand.

Spare time can be used to make up fillings in advance for storing in covered jars in the refrigerator ready for use the next day.

Canned Soups Handy

It is a good idea to keep a variety of canned soup in the kitchen. Heat up in the morning, fill the vacuum bottle in the evening and you can be sure your child will have a welcome and nutritious hot dish at noon time.

Variety and color is important in the lunchbox that goes to school. They help sharpen the appetite of the youngsters. If sandwiches are the mainstay of the lunchbox meal, vary the fillings each day to keep them from becoming tiresome.

If a filling must be repeated a second day vary the texture. By way of example cream cheese and jelly is fine for one day, but try adding chopped raisins and nuts pickle relish, ground prunes or grated carrot to the cheese the next days. This will change both flavor and texture.

Wrap Vegetables Well

Crisp vegetables go well with sandwiches. Children like to munch on easy to eat carrot sticks, celery stalks, turnip cubes and cucumber wedges. Lettuce leaves and whole, firm tomatoes are popular.

Be sure to wrap vegetables well to preserve freshness.

Fresh fruits pack well also and are easy to eat. So are dried fruits.

Include something sweet such as cookies, cup cakes or cake squares which carry well. Prepared cookie and cake mixes will save time.

Bible Words for Today

I JOHN 4:16—"And we have known and believed the love that God hath to us. God is love; and he that dwelleth in love dwelleth in God, and God in him."

I like this verse because it seems to me to be the truest epitome of the character of God. Many theologians and many sermons leave one with the impression that God is jealous or vindictive or indifferent. Once a person is assured that God is love and that He loves us all, then he is possessed with the conviction that life has a meaning and a destiny greater than our dreams. Love did not create us to end in dust; nor will love abandon us because of our ignorance or folly or sin. Because God is a love that will not let us go, we may happily give Him our best and trust His love to provide the rest.

I also like this verse because it makes very clear that only as we love, can we truly abide in God. The curse of our human relationships is "man's inhumanity to man that makes countless thousands mourn." It is strange that that inhumanity is displayed so often by those who think they are "close" to God and serve Him by cruelty or cultist exclusions of one sort or another. Whenever we close a door against a brother man, we close a door against God. "If a man say, I love God, and hateth his brother, he is a liar: for he that loveth not his brother whom he hath seen, how can he love God whom he hath not seen?"

My Answer

By BILLY GRAHAM

QUESTION: "Although I am a Christian, I am of a very superstitious nature. I am terribly afraid of doing anything which might bring me bad luck. Some of my friends tell me that is stupid and that a religious person like me ought not to be superstitious. A. G. T."

ANSWER: Superstition is poles apart from true religion. For superstition is a part of false religion. It is religion without reason—and without reality. To be in bondage to it is really quite inconsistent with a profession of faith in the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ.

You see, a Christian is a person who has committed his life to God's keeping and who believes that day by day his steps are divinely directed. His confidence is this, that "all things work together for good to them that love God." (Romans 8:28).

Instead of being ruled by "luck"—whether good or bad—his life is guided by the Holy Spirit. The Bible teaches that the sons of God are led by the Spirit of God. (Romans 8:14).

On the other hand, a superstitious person is ruled by the spirit of fear—fear of some strange, unknown, malignant force which he does not understand but which he is at the time endeavoring to placate in one way or another. Such superstition is a virtual denial of God: of His sovereignty and love, of His saving grace and keeping power.

I counsel you, as a Christian, to break free from this bondage and to stand in the liberty where-with Christ has made you free. (Chicago Tribune—New York News Syndicate—Inc.)

Review Of Garden Jobs For August

This column is three years old this August. Believe me it's been fun visiting with you and I appreciate the News-Star—World making these weekly visits possible. In August 1951 the idea occurred to me that maybe you'd like a rambling kind of a column of my experiences and those of other homemakers along with the very finest and newest information from our L. S. U. extension department. The response has been most rewarding. Please call me when you have something in your yard that others would like to see, or when you have built or made or cooked and would let others know about your project. Call about your neighbors yards. You help to keep this column alive.

In The Garden
For the last two years we've had limbs just turn loose and fall from the large trees. It's the dry weather and we don't know anything to do about it. Just be sure to saw the limb off so there are no ragged edges and seal with tree paint.

Let's review August garden jobs. Transplant Easter lily bulbs, divide day lilies, cut back violet and bearded iris foliage. Keep dead or diseased wood cut out of all shrubs and trees. Give chrysanthemums weebly applications of liquid fertilizer until color shows in the buds.

Some seed you can plant in August are sweet alyssum, cornflower, larkspur, queen anne's lace, salvia, scabiosa, stock, sweet william, candytuft, blue bonnet. Plant in well pulverized soil.

Earlier in the year I told you about a white canna bulb I bought. So many of you were interested. Well—I was disappointed because it's a creamy white and not a snow white. Very pretty but not exactly as I'd pictured it to be.

A colorful summer back yard is a joy to the owner. Seems to get you through these warm days. Carrie Parker has blooming in her back garden, summer flocks, crepe myrtles, salvia, roses and petunias. It is really a picture. The frame for this loveliness is one of the heaviest carpets of St. Augustine in the Twin Cities. There's not an inch that isn't completely covered and there are no foreign weeds or grasses to mar the effect. Drive by Carrie's at 507 Rochelle and see for yourself.

The Kembo cement coloring I spoke of a year or more ago has proven to do everything Dr. Reich recommended. Mr. Hershel Gentry called last week and invited me to see their patio after the third coat had been applied. He and Gene did an excellent job. This is really the most beautiful finish I've ever seen for drab cement. It is not a paint, nor is it mixed with the cement when it's poured. It is applied to either old or new patios, driveways or walks. The only requirements are that the surface be clean and that no old paint is there. I believe Hershel told me they put the Kembo on with a large brush and a mop. Call the Gentrys, go by and see this finish. They'll give you the address for ordering. I do hope our paint stores will carry this material soon and that the contractors will begin using it. Dr. Reich says it is a lifetime finish.

Here And There
One of Washington's cleverest hostesses, Madam Erkin, wife of the Turkish ambassador, has a special system of her own for saving her fine napkins. When she gives a luncheon the guests find at their places a small, lipsticked napkin in addition to the linen napkins. Of course, this is to remove lipstick. Many of her guests have liked the idea so much they've adopted it themselves. Isn't that a wonderful idea? I can hardly wait to get to town to get some material to make a set. Think I'll just draw threads around each one and make a narrow fringe. They only need to be three or four inches square.

A beauty hint says women who wear glasses should always use mascara on the eyelashes.

The hat designers are favoring brilliant hat shades for fall. The new hats are more enveloping than those worn this summer. These new ones cover the ears and are worn off the face. The hat shades are sapphire blue, strong pink, rose red, crimson, soft brown, and very little all black.

There's a hint that hair will be worn longer too.

Announcements
At this time I just can't say what the TV show will be on Tuesday at 1:30. Tune in for a surprise. I visited with the Jackson Parish Home Demonstration Council and Garden Club last Tuesday to serve on their monthly program. Such a lovely visit, such gracious people. All of you said such nice things about my radio and TV broadcasts and my Sunday column. Thank you. I'll work even more to try to bring you the newest and best in homemaking.

See you next Sunday.

New Fabrics Make Clothes Care Easy

Winter fabrics favorable to soap and water make much sense in a high school girl's busy life, and this year's fashions underline the practical.

Now there are washable pleated wool flannels, shrink-proof wool jerseys, wool-cotton combinations, acrilan-rayon flannels and orlon and wools.

Each can be whisked through suds easily and economically, much to mother's and daughter's joy.

Pick More Pockets For School Fashion

Pick a lot of pockets on your fall fashions. They are full of news on dresses, skirts and coats. Not one or two, but a veritable bushel are showing up in rows or scattered about almost indiscriminately. You'll see patch pockets, small-change pockets, pockets with buttons, fake flap pockets.

New Social Agency Is Welcomed Into Chest

Plans were announced Saturday for the location of a new social agency for the Monroe area. To be called the Monroe Area Guidance Center, the new agency will be an all-purpose psychiatric clinic dealing with personality disorders, and giving psychiatric guidance, and counseling service from qualified personnel. The center will be a joint state-community project supported by funds from the state department of institutions and the Monroe-West Monroe Community Chest. It will be housed at 510 Catalpa Street.

It will employ a psychiatrist, a psychiatric social worker and a secretary. Referrals are expected from probation officers, teachers, public health nurses, social workers, ministers, doctors, community agencies, and by the patients themselves. This service will be available to people regardless of age, creed, or color, at a small fee. In addition, the center will offer an education program of mental health which will include consultation service to other agencies, conferences with professional and lay groups, and talks to civic, school and church organizations.

In announcing the new service, Dr. Ben Oliphant, chairman of the board of directors, states: "Personality disorders, now considered the number one public health problem in the United States, are reflected statistically in the increased incidence of crime and delinquency, of our divorce rate, broken homes, suicides, behavior problems, learning problems at school, addiction to drugs, and alcoholism. Equally alarming, though not statistically measurable, are those individuals whose personality disorder causes them to become secluded, withdrawn people who turn their problems inward on themselves and create social maladjustment. Our primary objective in the guidance center will be to offer to such people at a nominal charge the assurance of confidential counseling service by highly trained, experienced professional personnel who recognize the universal human need for discussing one's anxiety-producing problems, in order to achieve and maintain emotional health. Such a guidance center program as we envision will, we believe, make a strong and creative contribution to community living in this greater Monroe area."

Members of the board of directors of the new organization are: Rev. John Allin, Miss Jean Bonham, Miss Eleona Brinsmade, Mrs. Almee Cook, Dr. Margaret Conn, Dr. S. I. Courtman, Miss Alice Farrar, Dr. Frank R. Ervin, Mrs. Willie Harris, Mrs. DeWitt Henry, Mrs. Marvin Hill, secretary, Mrs. Bernard J. Marcus, Dr. Fred Marx, Rev. W. H. McFadden, Dr. Ben Oliphant, chairman, Mrs. W. S. Vincent, Mrs. R. F. Taichman, Miss Ovelle Thomas, Mrs. J. B. Thornhill, Miss Mary Annie Wall, Major John B. Whitfield, vice-chairman, and Gardiner Young.

Neater Styles On Campus

The "dressier, neater" character of the entire masculine fashion picture for Fall will be reflected on every campus. The college man and prep school student will continue to cling to the casual jacket and odd slacks as "standard uniform."

But these will be toned down in pattern and have more serenity in color. The look, in general, will be more conservative, quieter.

"Nubby Touch"
The "nubby touch" will really come into its own this Fall in all manner of texture-interest fabrics. Flannels and tweeds will continue in the style spotlight. The trend of gray in its various shades (with particular emphasis on charcoal gray) will continue.

In suits, the two-button single-breasted model will continue in favor. Odd vests in solid colors, tattersals, plaids, repp stripes and fancy effects will make further gains in popularity. In topcoats, the trend to tweeds will accelerate, with raglan models well in the lead.

Oxford Collars
In headwear, small shape, narrow brim, tapered crown felts will be favored, along with pork pie types in mixtures and textured effects and caps and deer-stalkers for casual wear. Neat effects in striped repps and figured foulards will highlight the neckwear picture. Shirts will feature Oxford short-sleeved point collars in medium roll, button down and rounded collar styles. For casual wear, soft-textured soft-tone shirts in solids and patterns will be popular.

Sparkle Added To Give Outfits Dash

Accessories take a more important place in co-ed wardrobes this semester. With many fashions slimmed down and simplified, the girls will depend on added sparkle to give dash to their outfits.

Small, colorful scarves, ascots, stoles and oversized hankies can yield widely varied effects when played against dresses and suits. On sweaters, little fur collar and cuff sets or smart jeweled tie-on collars lend a costume air.

Fancy dummies, contour belts, leopard-skin belts take a prominent place in campus fashions. Wide band bracelets in gold or silver several thin bracelets and smart, tailored pins for hip or shoulder are costume jewelry favorites.

Dress-up hats are larger, interestingly shaped and trimmed, and beige - shaded to go with brown-tone wardrobes. But most hat-boxes will continue to contain the classic cloches, profile hats and floppy felts that co-eds adore.

nately. You'll see patch pockets, small-change pockets, pockets with buttons, fake flap pockets. All of it adds up to a lot of fun, not to mention storage space.

Sales Executives Will Hear Fetty

Members of the Monroe Sales Executive Club will hear Max Fetty, well known after-dinner speaker from Baton Rouge, at the monthly meeting of the group Thursday night. The meeting will be held Thursday at the Cameo Room of the Virginia Hotel, beginning at 6:30 p.m.

Fetty, who is sales promotional and advertising manager of the Delta Tank Manufacturing Company of Baton Rouge, has been active in civic affairs and has received awards from the American Red Cross, Community Chest, March of Dimes, United Givers and the USO for outstanding service.

Born in Indiana he has been in radio and was a member of the "Hey Rookie Show" during World War II. He resigned as program director of a Baton Rouge radio station to accept his present position.

All members are urged to make reservations as soon as possible.

Accident-Free Period Sought

The "slow down and live" program now in progress in the state of Louisiana is scheduled to end at midnight Sept. 6, on Labor Day, and plans for an accident-free week all over the state are underway.

According to a bulletin issued here yesterday, Gov. Robert F. Kennon is urging all law enforcement agencies in the state to begin planning for an increased tempo of traffic enforcement during the final week of the campaign, Sept. 1 through Sept. 6.

Kennon suggested the following six steps be taken by all traffic agencies:

Cancel all holidays and have all officers at work, extend all working hours, call out all reserves and uniformed auxiliary police, put them on highways at strategic locations, use all regular cruisers plus private vehicles of special and auxiliary police, and identify all extra vehicles with "slow down and live" bumper strips on the doors.

Plans Made For Concordia Fair

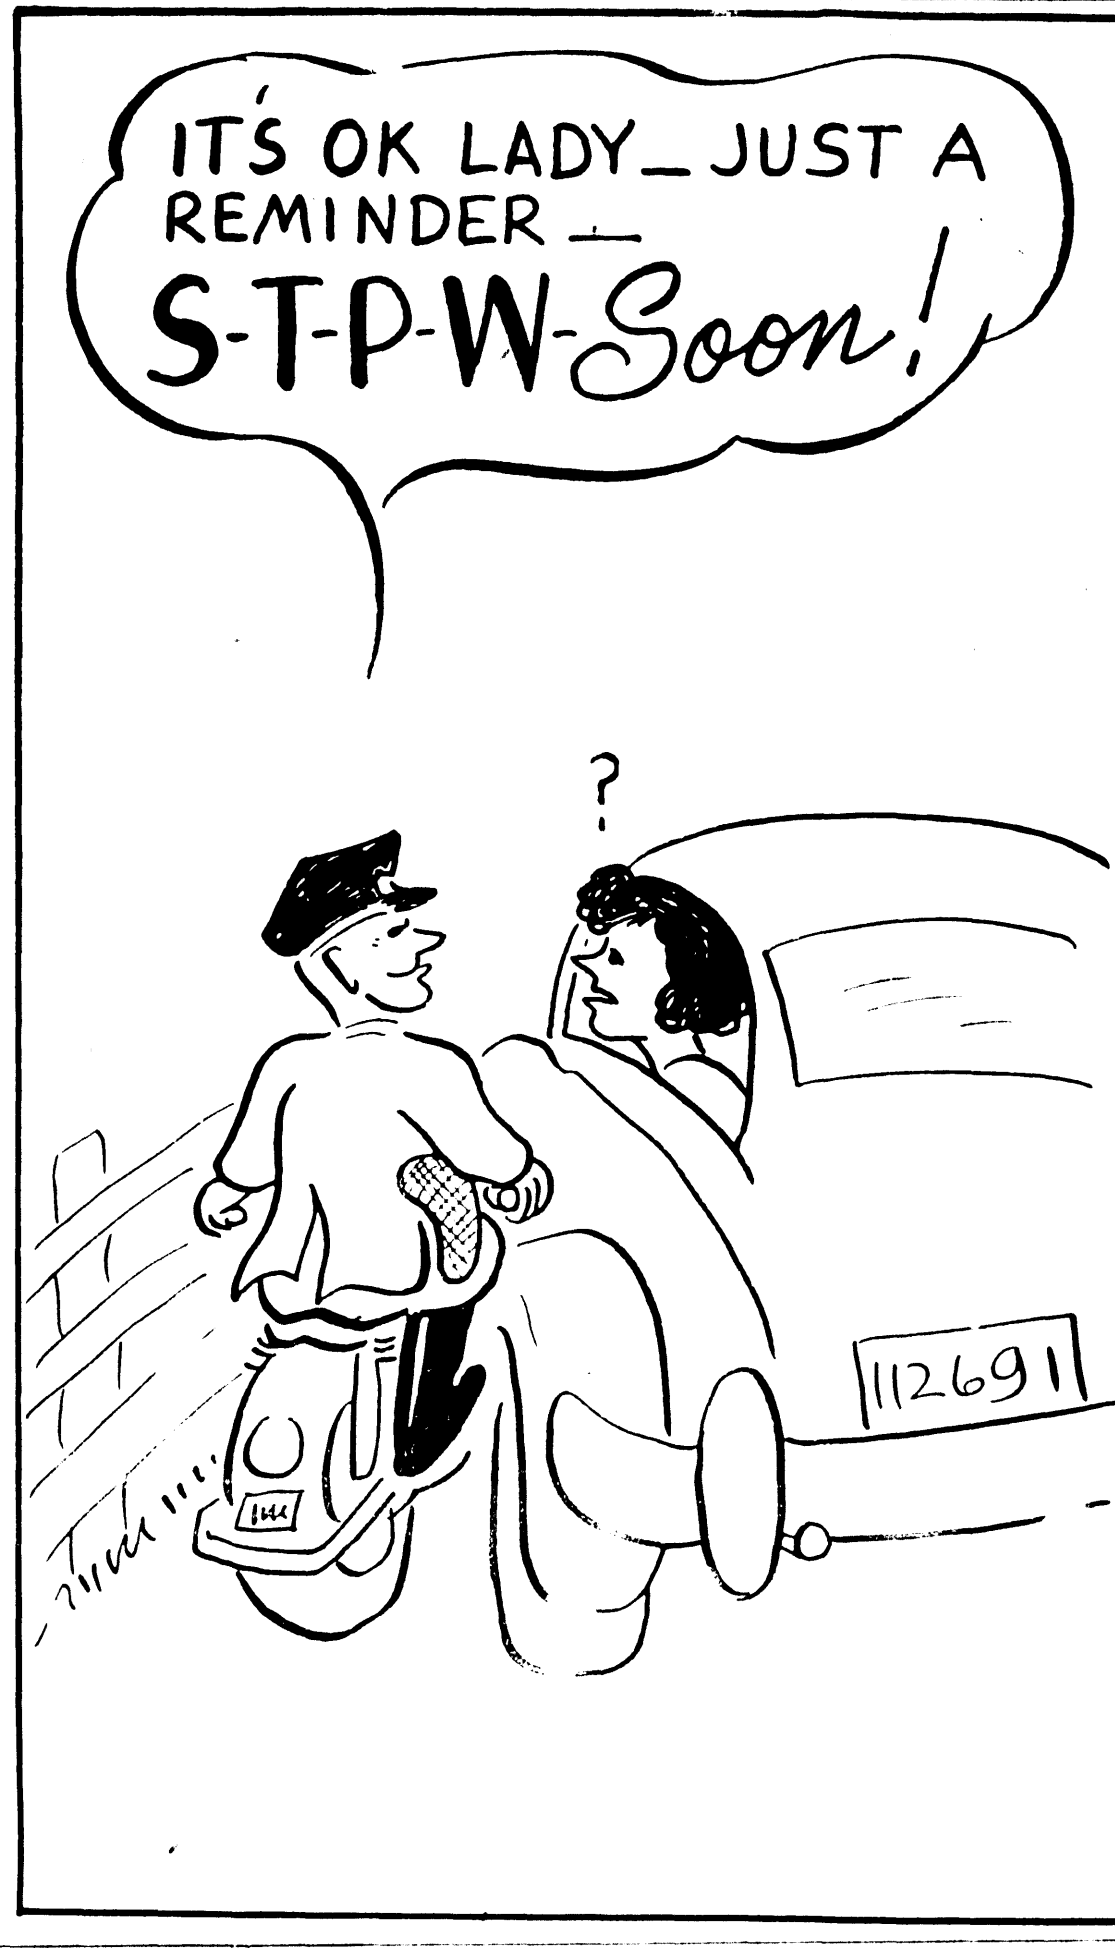

FERRIDAY, Aug. 14 (Special)—At a general meeting of the Concordia parish fair association, held Friday afternoon at the REA building here, plans were made for the forthcoming exposition to be held here.

S. L. Winston, Jr., of Vidalia, parish fair president had charge of the meeting, which was well attended. He said that work has been delayed on the construction of the fair exhibit building because of legal details, but these papers are expected to be received shortly. He added that the contract for the building has been let.

Other plans including the preparation of catalogues, the program and exhibits and premiums, were discussed at the Friday meeting. In past years the fair was held in Monterey, but with the plans for the new building, the exposition will take place in Ferriday and officers and members of the association are making plans to stage a successful exposition.

Buick's biggest hit brings you a 3-way bonus

1. You get the car that's in step with tomorrow

From stem to stern, Buick today is styled a year ahead—with long, low glamor lines, with the very look of tomorrow, and with that broad panoramic windshield that many other cars won't have till 1955. Equally important, you get in Buick advanced V8 power, big room, luxurious comfort, the famed Million Dollar Ride—and all for prices that start just a few dollars above those of the so-called "low-price three." Is it any wonder, then, that Buick today is outselling all other cars in America except two of these "low-price three"?

2. You get the car that's a sure high resale value

Buicks have always had a high trade-in value. But the 1954 Buick has an extra advantage in its year-ahead styling. That means your Buick will stay well up in the style parade for years to come—will stay fresh and new-looking well into the future. So you're bound to be way ahead in actual dollars when trade-in time comes.

Come see for yourself why—

3. You get a bigger allowance from our volume business

Every month's sales figures this year have firmed this fact: Buick sales are soaring; Buick is outselling all other cars in the nation, regardless of price range, except two of the "low-price three." So with this tremendous volume, we can—and do—offer higher trade-in allowances. Come in, see and drive a new Buick—then check for yourself that our volume business really does mean a far bigger allowance for you.

Your Problems By ANN LANDERS

Dear Mrs. Landers: We have been married for seven years and have a daughter of 5. I am 29, my wife is 27. We seemed to have a perfect love and marriage until I spoiled it. I have since rectified that fault of mine. As a result, however, my wife fell in love with a co-worker, married for 20 years and the father of three children. He has been separated from his wife for many years but she refuses to divorce him.

My wife has asked me to divorce her, but I have convinced her that it would not solve her problem. She has admitted that, because of his wife, there is nothing they can do. She has accepted clothes and money from him, taken trips with him and is planning to spend a vacation with him. At the same time, she accepts my love.

I sometimes think that my wife feels under obligation to the man. How can I help her give him up entirely and really belong to me and our daughter again?—M.A.R.

When you stop being a milkop, you might have a chance of getting your wife back. If you love her, Bub, you'd better show her that she is worth fighting for. Tell her you have had enough, that she, as well as you, enjoyed the early years of your marriage and that those years can be duplicated only when she sloughs off this man she fancies she loves. Remind her of her obligation to her daughter who will soon be old enough to ask questions. Tell her to make her choice between the man and you and her daughter. Also, my friend, be a man and tell this chap to leave your wife alone! If your wife does feel under obligation to do to "whoa" her up?—Bothered, the man, she will be grateful for your stand. In any case, she won't come back while she can so easily keep her cake and eat it, too.

Dear Ann: In a double ring ceremony who holds the groom's ring? Thanks. — M. E. H.

The maid of honor hands the ring to the bride at the moment that the best man gives her ring to the groom. The bride puts it on the groom's finger immediately after she has received her ring from him. It's all so sad and beautiful, isn't it? You are welcome.

Dear Mrs. Landers: We have a daughter who is nearly 30 years old and the older she gets, the bossier she becomes. When her dad isn't around, she acts as though I haven't a shred of sense. If I am driving the car, she drives just as hard from her seat. When her 3-year-old talks to me, she deceivers every thing he says, though I understand the little fellow quite well. When I hold her month-old-baby, she flutters around with her hands out as though I am going to drop him. I don't want to start an active war but I am fed up with Miss Smarty Pants. What can I

Why, you just kid your bossy daughter right out of it by giving her full title and privileges of a boss! When she starts ordering you around you "Yes, Boss," "Anything you say, Boss," her to death. Sometimes, you laugh and say, "Don't you fien wonder, Boss, how I ever got along until you took over?" Don't be nasty about it, but just keep right on letting your daughter realize how ridiculous she sounds and how she is overstepping her bonds. It won't take long.

(Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper.)

Don't Be Uncomfortable On Your Camping Trip

I am thinking today of all the folks who will take a camping trip this year. I probably should have written this column earlier in the season but after all, it seems that the last half of August carries the heaviest vacation travel. I am thinking about tips in camping which were given by a veteran guide who has spent many years leading others on camping trips and up mountain tops.

One suggestion, the main trick is not to go camping if you do not like it. There is nothing wrong with a person who does not like to go camping. But I think that the reason some people dislike it is that they find it uncomfortable.

Oh, Those Ants

There is little bonus in looking at beautiful scenery while you scratch mosquito bites, sit on an uncomfortable rock, and fight the ants and flies which get to your food. On the other hand, there is nothing which can take the place of a quiet night under the stars, with the scent of pine needles in your nostrils, and the sounds of all the animal life about you, raising its special symphony. There is nothing so rejuvenating as the experience of lying on your back and looking up at the heaven above you, and feeling completely in touch with nature and the forces of life. IF YOU ARE COMFORTABLE!

Most people do not live close enough to spots where there are no mosquitoes or flies, no heat or dust. Most people cannot afford an expensive vacation. For these there are many suggestions which will make the difference between an unhappy experience and a happy one.

Shoes To Glitter At Proms; Bigger Bags Are Popular

Shoes will glow at college proms this year with iridescent coloring, with glitter trim or with patent leather in many shades.

Baby Louis mumps still rate high with the "rock set" changes new, neater baggies and sandals in soft, supple leather and a wide color range.

On some campuses, the girls have taken over the white buckskin oxford and worn the matronities. Handbags are big and roomy—

LET'S EXPLORE YOUR MIND

1. THE AVERAGE WOMAN KNOWS HOW MUCH MONEY IS IN HER PURSE. YOUR OPINION

2. WILL HUMAN NATURE PERMIT TV TO REPLACE MOTION PICTURES? YES ☐ NO ☐

3. ARE THERE TWO KINDS OF DIVORCE? YES ☐ NO ☐

Answer to Question No. 1

1. Not usually, says Dr. N. Henrietta Radell, expert on budgeting. A woman will say, "Oh, I have about $18.00." She usually finds she has less and thinks she "must have lost some somewhere or been cheated." The doctor says if you don't know how much you are spending daily—even pennies—you're in debt, or soon will be. You'll be amazed how much you save by watching every penny.

the bucket, the briefcase, the shoulder strap pouch come in rounder, softer shapes. Wool mittens and leather gloves with wool or sheepskin linings will go to chilly campuses. Pigskins go everywhere.

Answer to Question No. 2

"U. S. News and World Report" (paraphrased), "People naturally like to go out, and they'd rather go see a good movie than a poor TV show at home. This is forcing better movies which already show the biggest box receipts on record. Movies have a big future, because human nature is what it is." Samuel, them sentiments include me in—not "out."

Answer to Question No. 3

3. Yes—legal and emotional. Louise J. Despert, in her fine book for parents, "Children of Divorce," shows where couples are emotionally divorced—bickering, quarreling, etc. This is often more destructive to the children than when parents are legally divorced. Emotional divorce keeps children in continual confusion and divides their loyalties. Legal divorce at least settles some problems so they know better where they stand.

DAGWOOD I'LL NEED YOU TO HELP ME MAKE SOME CHANGES IN MY NEW DRESS

TOOTSIE WOODLEY AND I BOUGHT SOME CHEAP DRESSES, BUT AFTER WE ALTER THEM THEY'LL LOOK EXPENSIVE

I FEEL SILLY

COME NEXT DOOR-- I WANT TO SEE HOW SHE'S CHANGING HERS

I'M GOING TO RIP OFF THE BOW AND ADD A FLOUNCE

ISN'T THIS HUMILIATING? ARE WE MEN OR MICE?

PSST--LET'S BEAT IT

LET'S ASSERT OURSELVES

COME ON--OUT THE BEDROOM WINDOW WHILE THEY'RE NOT LOOKING

CAREFUL

IS MY SLIP SHOWING?

THERE'S SOMETHING GOING ON AT THE WOODLEYS--A NEIGHBOR PHONED AND SAID TWO WOMEN WERE CLIMBING DOWN THE DRAINPIPE

THIS IS YOUR FIRST DAY ON THE FORCE, MORLEY--WE'LL START YOU OFF ON AN EASY JOB

I'LL DO MY DUTY, CAPTAIN

I HATE TO SEE NICE LADIES ACTING LIKE THIS

BLONDIE--NEXT TIME WE COME AROUND THE BLOCK HAVE THE FRONT DOOR OPEN!

SLAM

I'M TURNING IN MY BADGE--I HAVEN'T GOT THE STUFF TO BE A POLICEMAN

WINGY

COSH, RAINBOW, YOU SAVED US JUST IN TIME. I NEVER SAW ANYBODY SWIM AS GOOD AS YOU.

AND WE CAUGHT UP WITH YOUR HOUSE--AND NOW THE HOUSE IS AGROUND AND WE'RE ALL SAFE.

ALL EXCEPT MY POOR DAD.

YOU SEE, MOTHER PASSED AWAY YEARS AGO AND I LIVED WITH MY INVALID FATHER. THE FIRST THING I KNEW THE HOUSE WAS FULL OF WATER--AND I COULDN'T FIND DAD.

I CALLED AND CALLED---AS THE ROARING WATER PICKED THE HOUSE FROM ITS FOUNDATION---BUT I NEVER HEARD DAD'S VOICE---AND SINCE I AM BLIND---

WHAT MADE YOU THAT WAY, RAINBOW?

AS LONG AS I CAN REMEMBER I'VE BEEN SIGHTLESS, SPARKLE.

BUT MY HEARING IS VERY KEEN. THAT'S HOW I WAS ABLE TO SWIM TO YOU AND LITTLE WINGY. I CAN SHOOT A PHEASANT JUST BY AIMING AT THE SOUND.

YOU CAN?

RIGHT NOW, I HEAR A CROW. IT'S DIRECTLY OVER US.

YOU'RE RIGHT. RAINBOW, IT IS OVER US.

LET'S FIND OUT HOW THINGS ARE IN THE HOUSE.

I'M HUNGRY AND FIRSTY.

MUD AND SLIME! AND THIS IS MY DAD'S BED! I WONDER---??

A DRAWER FROM MY BUREAU---ALL MY CLOTHES.

I SEE PART OF A STOVE.

WAS DAD WASHED OUT OF THE HOUSE--OR IS HE STILL---

THAT SOUNDS LIKE AN AIRPLANE.

THIS IS ALL YOUR FAULT! YOU TOLD ME I COULD STOP MY WIFE FROM BUYING HATS BY PRETENDING I WAS BANKRUPT. NOW LOOK WHAT'S HAPPENED!

ISN'T IT WONDERFUL? SHE'S OPENED A HAT SHOP TO HELP YOU MAKE MONEY.

Patience Hotel

SHE'LL SPEND MONEY JUST TWICE AS FAST! THIS IS INSANE! DO YOU EXPECT WOMEN TO BUY DIZZY THINGS LIKE THAT?

SIR, I'LL HAVE YOU KNOW I JUST BOUGHT THIS HAT. FURTHERMORE, I THINK IT'S SIMPLY ADORABLE.

I THINK ALL HER HATS ARE ADORABLE.

THEY'RE SO NOVEL.

SO ORIGINAL.

ESPECIALLY THIS RAIN HAT.

MY DEAR, SHE'S A GENIUS.

HOW MUCH IS THIS ONE?

SIR, ARE YOU THE MANAGER? IF SO, I'D LIKE A DOZEN GOLDFISH MODELS, TWO DOZEN FLOWERPOTS, SIX DOZEN RAIN HATS, AND TEN DOZEN...

DORRUM DID YOU SAY?

MAKE IT HUNDREDS. I'M A WHOLESALE BUYER AND I'LL TAKE ALL THE HATS YOUR WIFE CAN MAKE.

ISN'T IT WONDERFUL, DEAR? I'M A SUCCESS ALREADY. I'M GOING TO BUILD A FACTORY.

IT JUST GOES TO PROVE THAT ALL WOMEN ARE CRAZY.

ON THE CONTRARY, SIR, IT PROVES YOU DIDN'T APPRECIATE YOUR WIFE'S GENIUS. WHAT LOOKS LIKE GIDDINESS IN A WOMAN IS OFTEN GOLD.

The PHANTOM

LEE RAY

HEG, THE MASTER SPY, SEES A STRANGELY-CLAD FIGURE--

CAN THAT BE THE UNKNOWN COMMANDER OF THE JUNGLE PATROL? HE MUST BE--IF MY IDEA ABOUT THAT WELL IS CORRECT--

THIS WELL SHOULD LEAD TO AN UNDERGROUND TUNNEL-- WHICH LEADS TO THE SAFE WHERE THE MYSTERIOUS ORDERS OF THE PATROL COMMANDER ARE FOUND--

THERE MUST BE A TUNNEL BRANCHING OFF

IT CANT BE JUST A WELL--THERE MUST BE A SECRET OPENING SOMEWHERE

AFTER HOURS OF SEARCH, HE FINALLY FINDS THE OPENING--

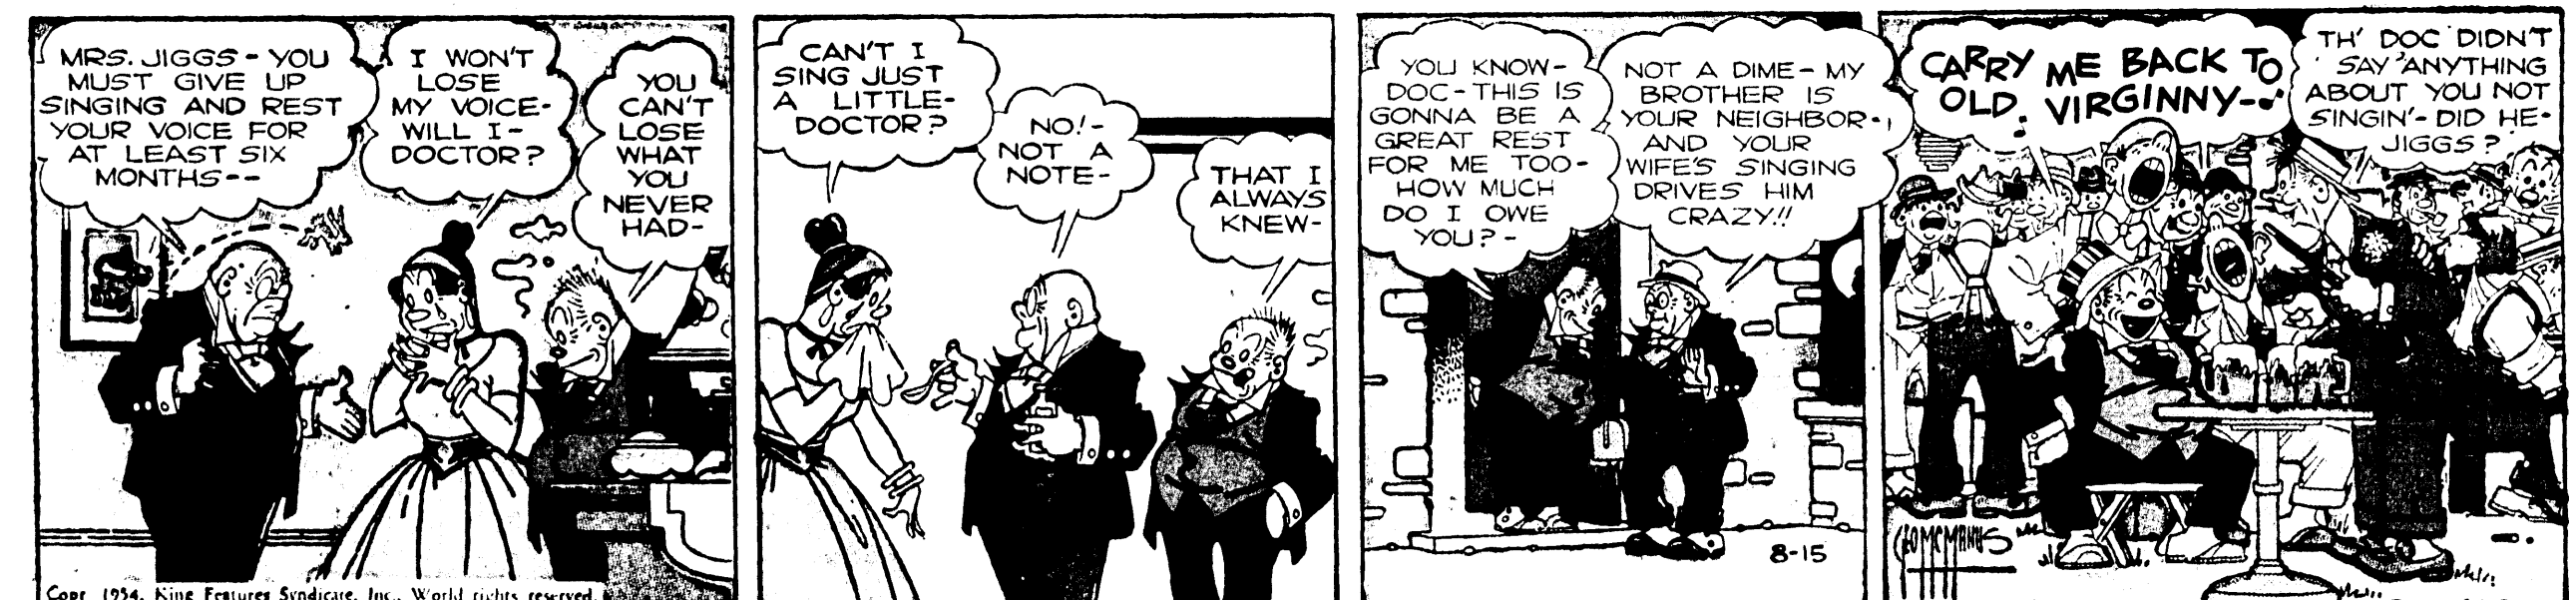

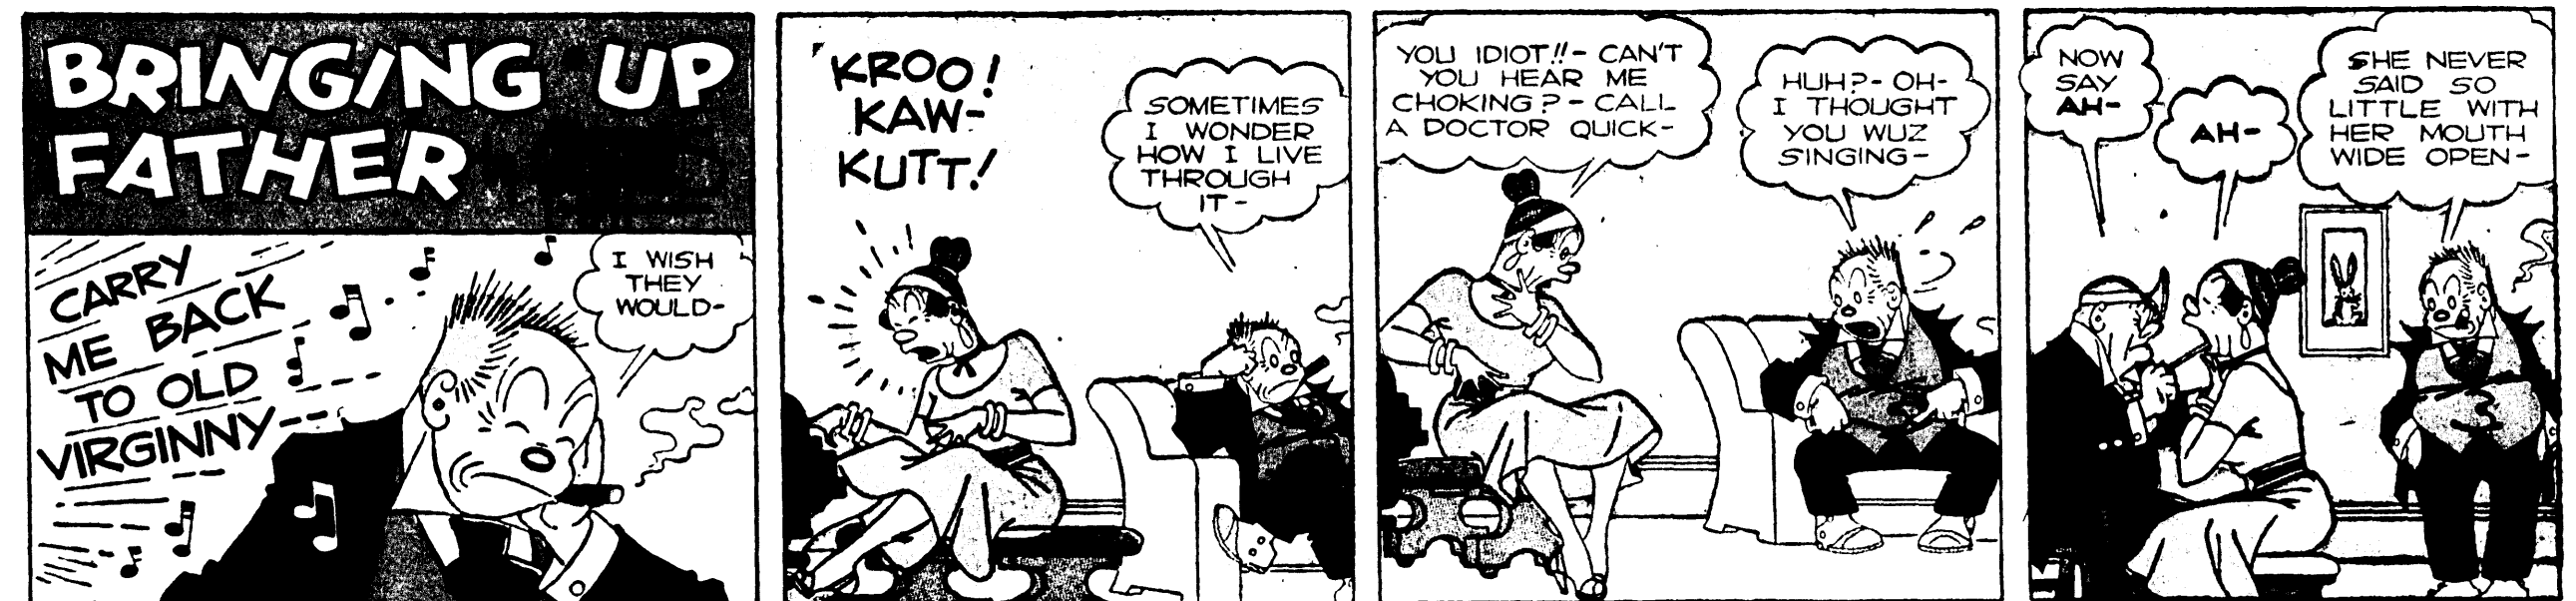

AH--I KNEW IT!

~BUT DOESN'T NOTICE A SMALL THREAD THAT BREAKS WHEN THE TUNNEL OPENS--

AH--HERE IS WHERE HE PLACES THE ORDERS THAT ARE FOUND INSIDE THE SAFE! I WAS RIGHT

NOW--IF I CAN FIND ANYONE WHO KNOWS WHO THIS IS, I'LL KNOW THE IDENTITY OF THE UNKNOWN COMMANDER!

"I've learned to bleach away my Washday Worries!"

I HAD THE TOWN'S GRAYEST LINENS—NOW THEY SPARKLE!

BILL GETS SHIRTS SO GRIMY! BUT TODAY EVEN CUFFS AND COLLARS WASH SNOWY WHITE WITHOUT RUBBING.

BABY'S BIBS AND CLOTHES WERE ALWAYS STAINED. NOW I CAN KEEP THEM SOFT AND WHITE...AND SANITARY!

TOMMY'S T SHIRTS, TOWELS AND HANKIES USED TO BE SO DINGY. TODAY I KNOW HOW TO GET THEM GLEAMING WHITE WITHOUT SCRUBBING.

"Good Housekeeping" MAGAZINE TAUGHT ME: USE A CHLORINE BLEACH"

After years of study of the best ways to wash clothes, Good Housekeeping, leading household magazine, says this:

To maintain whiteness, use a heavy-duty chlorine bleach "for the white cottons and linens that make up the bulk of family laundry..."

"Typical items: sheets, pillowcases, dish and bath towels, face cloths, men's shirts (including striped and light colors), T shirts, shorts, aprons, gloves, handkerchiefs."

"SO NOW I USE PUREX BECAUSE ONLY PUREX GETS CLOTHES SO WHITE... SO SAFELY!"

Every washday PUREX Liquid Laundry Bleach will give you a whiter, brighter wash with no fear of bleach damage. PUREX puts the sparkle back into your white cottons and linens... removes soil and many stains that have resisted soaps and detergents.

How can PUREX do all this so easily and with such complete safety? PUREX is a different kind of chlorine bleach. It's made with a special extra process—our exclusive Intrafil® Process—that removes harsh, harmful chemical impurities. Used as directed, PUREX is safe... gives you steady, thorough, yet gentle bleaching action.

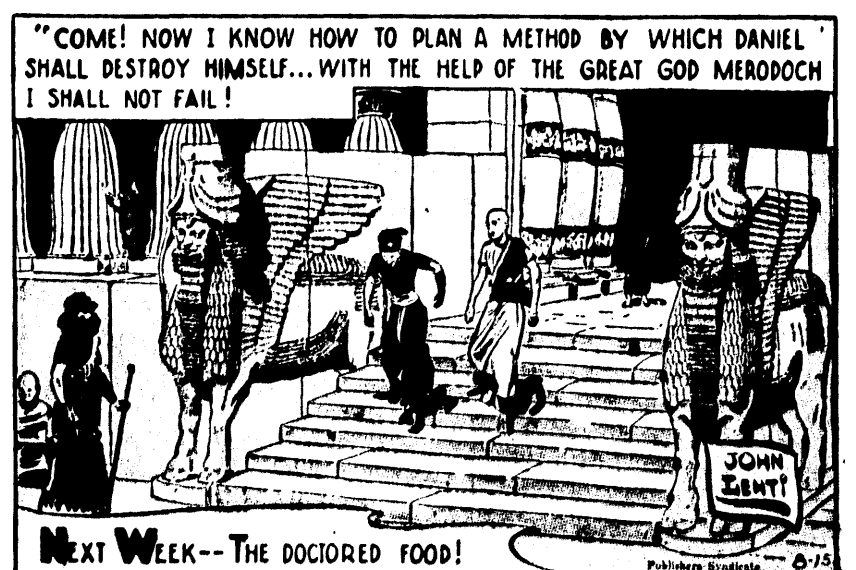

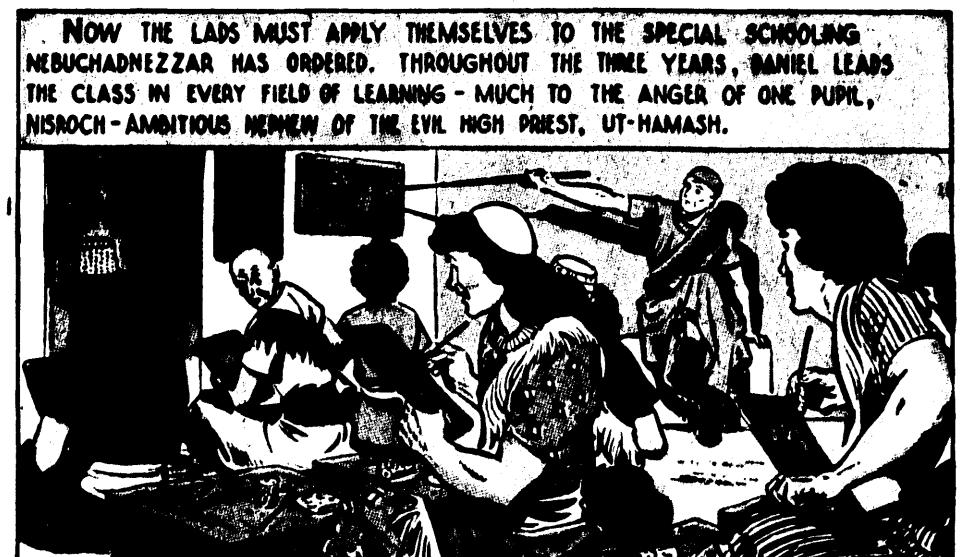

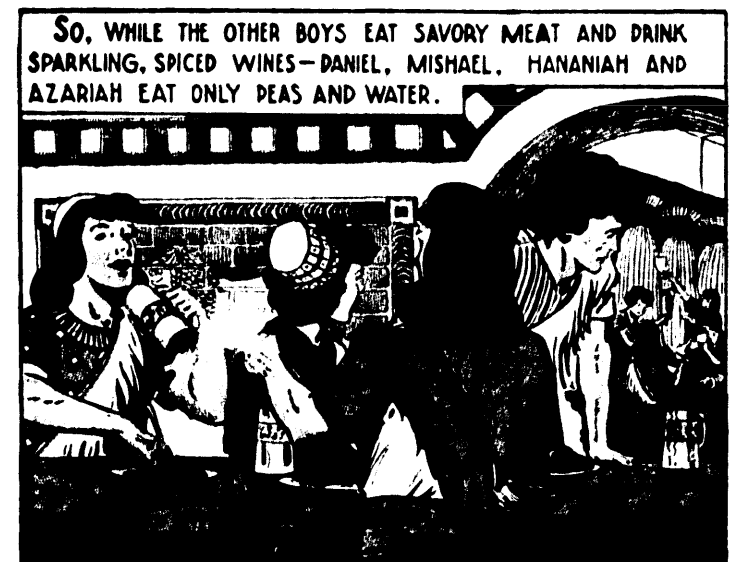

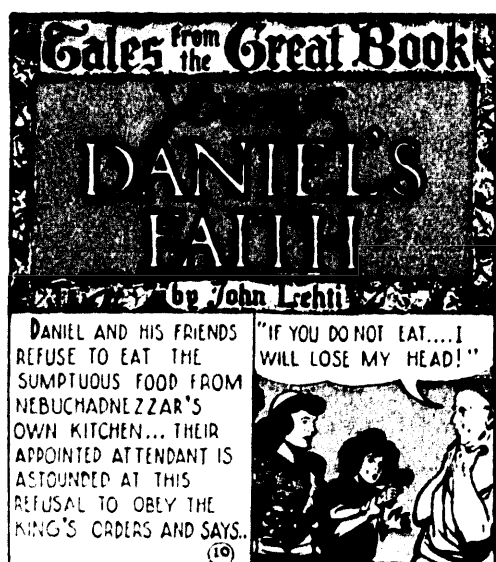

See for yourself: only PUREX gets clothes so white so safely.
